Gas Shortage

NEW YORK (AP) — Fears of a severe natural gas shortage next winter are forcing an increasing number of gas utilities to turn away new customers, putting some home builders in a bind.

Some gas utilities in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Washington, D.C., already have curtailed the sale of natural gas to new residential customers, always the last users to be cut back by utilities.

In these same areas, the home builder faces the dilemma of building a home that can cost more to construct and to heat, or postponing construction until the gas shortage eases.

C.V. Perry, president of C.V. Perry & Co. Developers in Columbus, Ohio, estimates that all-electric homes cost 10 percent more to build than gas-heated houses because of the additional insulation required.

Once installed, electric heat can cost two to four times more than gas, according to gas company estimates.

Electric utilities acknowledge that electricity is more expensive in many areas than gas, but they maintain it is generally a more efficient method of heating.

In Ohio, Dayton Power & Light Co. and Toledo Edison Co.—both gas suppliers—received permission Feb. 17 to put a freeze on all new customers, including residential users.

There is no assurance that an adequate supply of natural gas will be available to meet the demands of consumers next winter, says Henry Eckhart, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Branches of the federal government, other state utilities commissions and gas companies all echo a concern that the United States could face a critical shortage of gas in the next two winters.

Taiwan Military

TAIPEI (AP) — The military forces of Nationalist China are, by most estimates, well able to defend Taiwan despite cuts in aid from the United States.

U.S. advisers say the Nationalists' ability to defend the island in the future, however, would be threatened by any halt in American aid and sales credits.

The subject has been raised in Taiwan because President Nixon in his communique with Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China announced that U.S. forces ultimately would be withdrawn from Taiwan.

American leaders have told Taiwan that the withdrawal would take place only if the Nationalists reach some kind of accord with the Chinese Communists. This presumably pleases the Nationalists because they regard an accord as impossible.

Fewer than 400 of the 8,300 U.S. military men on Taiwan were engaged in the defense of the island. The others work in units related to the war in Indochina or on Pentagon communications projects.

Nonetheless, a U.S. pullout would be certain to make the government want to spend more, not less, on better equipment for its military.

The Nationalist military budget is secret but estimates indicate the government spends about $600 million a year on its armed forces. This represents just under 10 per cent of the gross national product.

U.S. aid reduction already has led to debate within the government over the value of its large armed forces. Some cuts have been made in the forces, but not in military spending.

The army has been cut 45,000 men to 335,000. The navy has remained steady at 72,000 and the air force at 82,000. Some of the savings from army cuts has gone into increased purchases of military equipment from the United States.

Kleindienst—ITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ailing lobbyist was quoted Thursday as saying President Nixon told former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to go easy in a pending Justice Department suit against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Brit Hume, an aide to columnist Jack Anderson, said he heard of Nixon's alleged role in the case from Mrs. Dita Beard, Washington lobbyist for ITT.

Hume said he confronted Mrs. Beard with a memo she wrote linking a $400,000 pledge from ITT to the Republican National Convention in San Diego and the eventual out-of-court settlement of the antitrust case against the firm.

Hume quoted Mrs. Beard as describing her confrontation with Mitchell at a reception in the Kentucky governor's mansion following the Kentucky Derby last May.

Here is what Hume told the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is re-examining the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to succeed Mitchell as attorney general.

"He (Mitchell) said at the party in Kentucky he had received a call or had been contacted by the President to lay off ITT."

"You mean this is what the President said?" Hume said he asked Mrs. Beard, who is now hospitalized with a serious heart ailment in Denver.

In answer to that, Hume said Mrs. Beard softened the President's intent to mean that Nixon wanted Mitchell "to make a reasonable settlement."

Former Republican Kentucky Gov. Louis Nunn, who was host at the Derby reception, told the committee Tuesday that Mrs. Beard collapsed in a stupor during the reception.

Earlier Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., sharply questioned Anderson about where he obtained the Beard memo.

Declining to name his source, Anderson offered to make a copy and return it to ITT officials, drawing laughter from the mostly tense and packed hearing-room.

"If a newsmen's source can be hauled before the government then the First Amendment is absolutely useless," Anderson said in answer to an accusation from Gurney that the memo was stolen property.

Anderson said that Kleindienst was directly responsible for the failure to carry an antitrust suit against ITT to the Supreme Court and is unfit to replace Mitchell.

Kleindienst, who asked for the new hearings after Anderson published three columns on the ITT case, has denied he played any role in the final settlement which permitted the conglomerate to keep the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Suskind Named Co-Conspirator

Indict Irvings For Fraud

NEW YORK (AP) — Clifford

Irving and his wife Edith were indicted by federal and county grand juries Thursday on charges of fabricating taped interviews, forging documents and engaging in other schemes in a plot to obtain $750,000 for a bogus autobiography of billionaire Howard Hughes.

The indictments spelled out in minute detail how the Irvings and their researcher, Richard Suskind, carried out the alleged hoax which duped two major publishers.

Irving and Suskind are accused of taking turns playing Hughes in simulated interviews of the billionaire, recording their answers and later offering these to McGraw Hill, Inc., as tapes of unprecedented conversations with the eccentric reclusive.

The 24-page indictment charged the Irvings with mail fraud and conspiracy. It named Suskind as a co-conspirator but not a defendant.

U.S. Bombers Hit Antiaircraft Sites

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers raided antiaircraft positions in North Vietnam for the eighth straight day, the U.S. Command reported Thursday.

The U.S. Command said Air Force F4 Phantoms bombed antiaircraft artillery sites Wednesday at two locations about a mile apart inside North Vietnam's half of the demilitarized zone and at another point about 40 miles north of the zone. It claimed the enemy fired on unarmed reconnaissance planes.

The results of the strikes, the command said, were not known, but there was no damage to the American planes.

The command has a policy of not disclosing the number of fighter escorts with each reconnaissance plane. Other sources said the latest attacks were carried out by flights of two to four F4s each.

Each raid is counted by the command as one protective reaction strike even though more than one plane participated. The U.S. Command has reported 90 such raids this year.

In a delayed report, the command said one F4 was shot down Tuesday by ground fire while attacking North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos. The two crewmen are missing, the command said.

U.S. B52 bombers continued to pound the northern region of South Vietnam below the demilitarized zone, in an area 31 miles southwest of Da Nang, and in the central highlands.

Sources said the bombers' missions were against suspected enemy troop concentrations, infiltration routes and base camps in an effort to slow down what American officials say is a continuing buildup by the Communist command.

Autopsy Of Indian Reveals No Torture

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — A second autopsy on the body of Raymond Yellow Thunder, 51, a Sioux who died last month in Gordon, Neb., showed no evidence of mutilation or torture, a lawyer said Thursday.

John Echo Hawk of Boulder, Colo., an attorney for the Native American Rights Fund, made the announcement and said the family of the dead man is fully satisfied with the results of the autopsy.

The second autopsy was performed at the request of surviving relatives and the American Indian Movement after demonstrations by Indians who claimed that Yellow Thunder had been tortured and castrated prior to his death.

Echo Hawk, one of seven persons chosen by the family to witness the autopsy which was performed by Dr. George O'Gara of Denver, Colo., said: "There were no cigarette burns, no crushed hands and no evidence of any other mutilation."

The body of Yellow Thunder, was found in a car in Gordon on Feb. 28, eight days after, according to an official, he was forced to strip from the waist down and dance "Indian style" at a local American Legion Hall. An initial autopsy report said the body was not mutilated.

Four men and a woman have been charged in connection with the death, three of them accused of manslaughter. A preliminary hearing is scheduled Tuesday.

Some 1,000 Indians gathered Tuesday in Gordon—whose population is 10 per cent Indian—to demonstrate against what they said was discrimination by whites.

The leaders of the demonstration agreed to leave Gordon late Wednesday after local and state officials joined in a statement calling for a federal investigation into Yellow Thunder's death.

In Washington, Rogers C. B. Morton, secretary of the interior, said Wednesday that his department would investigate the death. He also said he had asked the Justice Department to look into the case to see if any federal laws were violated.

The Nebraska Legislature ordered the state attorney general to investigate, and various local and state officials signed a statement calling for investigations by a federal grand jury, Congress and the Justice Department.

Irish Terrorists Die In Explosion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three terrorist bomb makers blew themselves to pieces Thursday in the accidental explosion of an Irish Republican Army gelignite dump in the heart of Belfast, the army reported.

The explosion demolished two homes and injured three men and a woman in the Northern Ireland capital's Lower Falls Roman Catholic enclave.

A British military spokesman said the blast was caused by a 30-pound charge of gelignite which the dead men were priming in a house on Clonard Street.

The bomb went off as thousands of Protestant workers paralyzed Northern Ireland's industry with a sudden strike to protest the violence that has racked the province since August 1969.

Security forces said the three men injured in the bomb blast were on the army's list of wanted IRA suspects.

Clonard Street is in the midst of an IRA stronghold where civilian police dare not venture and the British Army—which has 15,000 men fighting IRA guerrillas in the north—patrols only in armored cars.

But on Thursday, the troops and local Catholics forgot their mutual hostility as they clawed at the rubble to drag the injured clear.

The three deaths increased the fatality toll in Northern Ireland in the last 31 months to 267—61 this year.

The Protestant strikers called their stoppage to protest the continuing violence wrought across Northern Ireland by the IRA, which is pledged to wrest the province from British rule and unite it with the Irish republic to the south.

Power workers threw the switches at electricity generating stations, denying most of the province supplies for homes, factories and stores.

At the same time, thousands of men walked out in shipyards and engineering and aircraft plants, where the labor force is traditionally Protestant-dominated.

The stoppage was called by the Loyalist Association of Workers, which spurned appeals from government and trade union leaders not to act. The association is pledged to maintaining the north under British rule.

The county grand jury charged the Irvings and Suskind with grand larceny, conspiracy and possession of forged documents.

In addition, Irving and Suskind were charged with perjury—Irving for swearing he had met with Hughes in such places as California, Mexico and Florida and Suskind for saying in an affidavit he was present at such a meeting in California where Hughes gave him "an organically grown prune."

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the 25-count county indictment alleges the Irvings and Suskind thought they could "successfully defraud McGraw-Hill based upon their belief that Hughes was either deceased or not of sufficient mental or physical capacity to denounce the autobiography as a fake."

The three were arraigned on the federal charges before Judge John Cannella who set next Monday for pleading after Irving's lawyer, Maurice Nessen, asked for "an all-purpose adjournment."

As told in the indictments, the story starts in December, 1970, exactly one year before McGraw-Hill and Life magazine startled the publishing world with the announcement that they had title to a Hughes autobiography.

This is the case alleged against the Irvings and Suskind.

BELFAST: Rescue workers with the aid of earth-moving equipment search through the wreckage of house here Thursday after a bomb blast leveled the building in this Roman Catholic section of Belfast. Three persons are dead and three more were wounded. The blast came as Protestants, vowing to lash back at sectarian violence in Northern Ireland, said they would kill 10 Roman Catholics, including one priest, for every policeman or soldier slain in Ulster. Nixon Tells Airlines To Tighten Security

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Nixon has ordered the nation's airlines, hit by a spate of bomb hoaxes, to implement tighter security controls in the tense aftermath of a $2-million extortion plot against Trans World Airlines.

The airlines already had reacted to the plot with taut security procedures and experienced numerous delays as a result. There were forced landings and other delays because of bomb threats throughout the day.

Nixon ordered on Thursday "immediate steps by every carrier to prevent or deter weapons or explosives from being carried aboard its aircraft; to prevent or deter unauthorized access to its aircraft; to tighten its baggage checking procedures, and to improve the security of its cargo and baggage loading operations."

At least two airborne planes had to land after bomb threats were received. On the ground, planes were searched repeatedly, and some were kept under guard in the glare of floodlights.

The discovery Tuesday of a bomb in the cockpit of a TWA plane in New York City plus the explosion the following morning that blew apart the cockpit of a TWA craft in Las Vegas spawned the hoaxes and spread anxiety among airline officials and passengers alike.

There was no confirmation of published reports that TWA was negotiating with an extortionist but had lost contact with him.

TWA officials denied a New York Police Department report that a plane carrying $2 million was sent to Atlanta, Ga., on Tuesday night but that no money was turned over to the extortionists.

On Thursday, bomb scares delayed flights of planes operated by Eastern, Western, American and Delta Airlines.

Arrivals at Kennedy Airport were from 20 minutes to 2½ hours late. At Chicago's O'Hare, departure delays averaged 15 minutes. At Columbus, Ohio, security measures caused flight delays of up to 30 minutes.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said at least a dozen unfounded bomb threats had been made to airline offices and FAA facilities in Kansas City in two days.

Security took various forms.

In Cleveland, Ohio, off-duty policemen stood guard over parked jetliners that were floodlighted overnight. An increased number of city policemen were posted at the airport in Philadelphia. In Columbus, Ohio, only passengers were allowed beyond the terminal lobby.

Meanwhile, the International Air Transport Association warned airlines to be wary of a new extortion attempt.

Suit Against Merger Filed By Ralph Nader

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The controversial Justice Department settlement permitting the merger of International Telephone & Telegraph and Hartford Fire Insurance Co. could be nullified through a state court suit initiated by Ralph Nader.

Superior Court Judge Walter J. Sidor has not indicated when he will rule on the suit.

Nader, a consumers' advocate, filed his challenge in June 1970, shortly after the merger was approved by the state insurance commissioner.

The state law under which Nader attacked the merger, said to be the largest in the nation's history, regulates takeovers of Connecticut-based insurance companies by noninsurance corporations.

During a Superior Court hearing in January, Nader argued that certain facts about ITT finances and promises the company made to Connecticut officials were not made public as required under the statute.

Nader also alleges that former state Insurance Commissioner William R. Cotter was under political and economic pressure that affected his decision May 23, 1970, to approve the merger.

Cotter, now U.S. representative from Connecticut's 1st District, testified that he indeed was under pressure, "but not political."

The pressure came, the Democratic congressman said, from Hartford area residents opposed to the merger and from brokerage houses and stockholders who wanted to know when his decision would be announced.

A Senate committee is taking testimony concerning charges by columnist Jack Anderson that a settlement favorable to ITT was arranged after an ITT subsidiary purportedly pledged $400,000 to help cover expenses of the Republican National Convention.

Under the settlement announced by the Justice Department last July, ITT would divest itself of several subsidiaries and in return the antitrust suit against the ITT-Hartford Fire merger would be dropped.

Hartford Fire, with assets exceeding $2 billion, is generally considered by observers more valuable to ITT than the companies it has agreed to give up.

Peace Reasoning—Illogical Gambit

It is almost always an uphill contest for a presidential candidate running against an incumbent president.

It is immensely tougher when the election comes in the middle of a war, and tougher yet when the war has reached the "delicate" stage where a loose lip could sink not just a ship but the country's very hopes for peace, or so it is claimed.

The toughest thing of all, however, is to retain one's perspective when the war is the unpopular Vietnam war, when the incumbent president has spent longer winding it down than two previous presidents took to wind it up, and when those who aspire to be the next president are members of the party which got the country into the war in the first place.

Sen. Edmund Muskie and others have been accused almost of treason by at least one member of the Nixon administration because they publicly criticized the President's publicly revealed peace offer to Hanoi and publicly advanced peace plans of their own.

The reasoning is that North Vietnam will thus be encouraged to prolong the war until after the election in hopes of being offered softer terms by a new president.

The wonder is that such an accusation can be seriously made or the reasoning behind it seriously indulged in at this late date. It is actually, the same reasoning being used by the presidential hopefuls themselves—to wit, that what an American president says or offers, or what an American presidential candidate says or offers, has a measurable influence on strategy-making in Hanoi.

It has just been revealed that as early as July, 1965, when the United States had only about 83,000 troops in Vietnam, a peace bid was made to Hanoi.

This was not, it will be recalled, an election year. No presidential candidates were holding out alternative, more favorable peace plans.

Yet the offer failed and, according to William P. Bundy and George W. Ball, State Department officials in the Johnson administration, it failed for the same reason all subsequent ones have failed: It simply did not provide for U.S. collaboration with North Vietnam in the overthrow of the South Vietnamese government.

Yet in this election year of 1972, presidential candidates have to go on believing, and try to make the electorate go on believing, that stopping the bombing or stepping up troop withdrawals, or being a little more generous or reasonable in Paris, will accomplish what previous bombing halts, troop withdrawals and generosity and reasonableness failed to accomplish.

By Dean Rusk's quivering antennae, this may be many things, but it sure isn't treason.

Adding to the sense of unreality about it all is the fact that both sides know that if their roles were reversed—if candidate Nixon were attacking the peace maneuvers of President Muskie or Humphrey or McGovern—spokesmen for the Muskie, etc., administration would be throwing up their hands in horror at this blatant injection of partisan politics into the delicate and crucial peace negotiations.

Man vs. Drought—Custom-Made Rain

That old bromide about everybody talking about the weather but nobody doing anything about it has been knocked for a loop in Florida.

Beginning in 1970, the southern part of the state was visited by the worst drought in its recorded history. On Dec. 1, Lake Okeechobee was two feet under its scheduled level. By Jan. 15, 1971, after six straight months of below normal rainfall, the public was warned to start conserving water.

By that time, officials of the Southern and Central Florida Flood Control District and scientists with the federal National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) agreed that the situation was grave enough to try an experimental cloud seeding program. The hope was that considerable meteorological knowledge, and maybe even some rainfall, could be obtained.

During a 57-day experiment ending with the Memorial Day weekend, two NOAA research aircraft flew 16 cloud seeding missions and were able to seed on 14 of those days. A total of 2,066 silver iodide flares were used.

An analysis of the results showed that on only three days was there little or no effect from the seeding efforts. On the remaining 11 days there was substantial cloud build-up, and on 10 days seeded clouds merged and produced heavy rainfall in the Everglades.

On April 26, as fires ripped through hundreds of thousands of acres in the Everglades, the program had its greatest success. Two groups of seeded clouds exploded into tremendous cumulonimbus complexes, producing over three inches of heavy precipitation in the south Miami area. This downpour was credited with putting out 26 Everglades fires.

By May 20, the back of the drought was badly bent, if not broken, and it had been proved that, if only on a limited scale, somebody WAS doing something about the weather.

Showing Neither Triumph Nor Crushing Defeat

Muskie's New Hampshire Primary Victory Weighed

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's showing in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary is neither the clear victory the front-running Democrat sought nor the major political blow his Democratic rivals claim. It is rather the first installment in a long arduous season of primary contests and it will be eclipsed in a week by the verdict of the voters in Florida. However, Muskie appears to have suffered an unexpected blow in the selection of the Democratic National Convention delegates from New Hampshire. His managers had expected to sweep those contests but partial returns showed Muskie supporters leading in only 11 of 20 races. Sen. George S. McGovern the man who got the biggest boost in New Hampshire, was leading for the other nine delegates. But Muskie could not muster a clear majority of the Democratic vote in his contest with McGovern and three other significant challengers.

It was McGovern who emerged as the chief political beneficiary in that phase of the primary. His showing, with more than a third of the total Democratic vote, multiplied his standing in national opinion polls, which rated him the presidential choice of only 6 per cent of Democrats.

McGovern managers hope the New Hampshire showing will boost their man when the pollsters next sample public opinion. In the preferential vote, with over 90 per cent of the ballots counted, Muskie's share was 48 per cent, McGovern's 37.

Muskie appeared to be scoring little better than a standoff in the separate delegate selection balloting. The 20 New Hampshire delegates will have 18 nominating votes to cast.

The 11-9 Muskie edge was based on 38 per cent of the anticipated Democratic vote as the slow count proceeded today.

If that outcome stood, New Hampshire would add little to the Muskie game plan in which the Maine senator is entering almost every contest in hopes of gathering the magic 1,509 delegates that it will take to nominate when Democrats convene in Miami Beach, Fla., July 10.

In that effort, the crucial contests are ahead. Muskie hopes are high for a major victory in Illinois, where 170 delegates will be at stake in a March 21 primary.

A more impressive New Hampshire showing could have provided a psychological boost in the delegate-collecting effort. It also might have helped in Florida, where 11 Democrats are in the race, and where Muskie strategists fear he might finish third, behind Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Muskie remains the man any other Democrat must beat to gain the nomination. But the bandwagon days, fashioned around the preprimary endorsements of Democratic leaders and officeholders, are over for now.

The senator from Maine has 23 more primaries in which to try to bring them back; his rivals have that many opportunities to stop him.

'Openness,' It's Smothering Us

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
MIAMI (NEA) — The Democrats in 1972 have become so enamored of "openness" in the presidential political process that they are in danger of putting us all to sleep with free expression.

They've reformed presidential nominating procedures so that just about anybody who can get some money can run for the big job. And, that, in some measure, is what we're getting: just about anybody.

Only a few times in our history have we seen such a deluge of candidates. It's as if a lot of people in the Democratic Party felt that only by the magic of numbers could they prove their openness. But choosing a president is a quest for quality. An insistence upon quantity could swamp the thing out.

In the early primaries of 1972, I find the quantity of candidates having a strangely dissipating effect. Here in Florida, as in New Hampshire, there is a sense of emptiness in the presence of many.

Not long ago, I heard a sort of debate among some of the candidates in New Hampshire. I had to remind myself repeatedly that I was not listening to a battle for the county clerk's job. Mediocrity was rampant.

In Florida, voter interest is intense in the question of busing to foster racial integration in schools. A referendum on the issue will be held concurrently with the March 14 presidential primary balloting.

Yet, when more than 10 candidates' voices are raised on such a complex, controversial subject, few voters can keep track of what any of them think.

That's why Alabama's Gov. George Wallace is reinforcing his clear lead in the Florida primary. He doesn't have to say a word.

Everybody knows where he stands on busing.

There is no proper way, of course, to argue against openness in the presidential selection process. It is obviously a desirable goal, and the evident achievement of it by the Democratic Party is commendable.

But Democrats are over-reacting in their emotional revulsion against the cramped choosing process which helped convert their 1968 convention at Chicago into a debacle. They are smothering us with their proofs of reform.

I walked along the sand at Miami Beach as aides to Sen. George McGovern passed out campaign brochures. The sunning oldsters, playing cards under palm fronds, were friendly enough. Still, there was this recurring theme:

"Too many candidates.... they're all alike." They're not at all alike, but they do tend to merge in the mind as one. In one hour I saw 30-second or 60-second television "spots" for four Democrats entered in the March 14 test. In the final days, this will be a flood. It could be the start of the last hurrah for this long favored campaign device. It's been fading, anyway, since its overuse in the 1968 presidential battle.

Plainly, nobody can tell aspirants they can't run. What we need is some good old-fashioned self-restraint in the use of privilege. It's too late for that this time. Only ruthless rejection of also-rans at the polls will narrow the roster in 1972.

In the meantime, pity the poor voter as he thumbs the list:

Muskie, Wallace, Shirts, Humphrey, Pajamas, McGovern, Hartke, Socks, Lindsay, Chisholm, Handkerchiefs...

Ann Landers:

Life Is Great After Dad Stopped Drinking

Dear Ann Landers: You've printed lots of letters from kids who are unhappy because their fathers drink. But I don't think you've ever printed a letter from a teenager whose father stopped drinking. Here's one.

For as long as I can remember, my dad and mom had trouble because he never came home from work when he was supposed to. When he did come home, he was plogged. On weekends he'd get completely smashed. About a year ago mom told him to get some help and shape up or she was going to a divorce lawyer. She said it was absolutely his last chance. Well, that did it. My life is so different now I can barely believe it.

Dad is home after work every night at 6:15. Our whole family has dinner together. I just found out he is really smart. He can talk intelligently on many subjects. We never knew it because he never made any sense at night and in the morning he was too hung over to talk. I'm not afraid to invite company to the house anymore. I used to shudder when my friends knew what shape dad would be in. When he was drinking, his language wasn't the best.

Last summer we took our first real vacation. We're going to do it again in July. Life is so great when you have something to look forward to.

I wonder if men who drink realize what a difference their boozing makes to their families. Tell them, will you?—A Happy Kid

Dear Happy Kid: You told them—and in a way that I never could. You don't say whether your dad went to A.A., a counselor or if he quit cold. The last approach might seem easiest, but it's the most difficult. It CAN be done, however. My congratulations to your dad and my thanks to you for a day-brightener.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for 12 years. We get along well together and have no problems we can't resolve before we turn out the light at night. Something is bothering me, however, and I don't want to mention it to Phil. It's his mother's frequent references to his hair. Phil is only 36, but his hair is salt and pepper. It doesn't bother me in the least; in fact, I like it. When we were married, he was only 24 and had some gray in his hair even then.

My mother-in-law implies that I am the cause of her son's gray hair. For example, she'll say, "Phil, dear, your hair is turning so fast—is your wife worrying you into old age?"

Although she does it in a kidding way, it irks me. Does gray hair have anything to do with worry? What should I say?—At a Loss for Words

Dear Loss: Gray hair has nothing to do with worrying. It's an inherited characteristic. Chances are good that Phil is getting his gray hair from his mother, not you, dear. Wise him up so HE can tell her.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been reading your column since I was eight years old. I am 14 now and I want to pay you back for all the things I have learned. Here are some facts that I'll bet you don't know:

The fruit fly has eight chromosomes. The pea plant has 14. Corn has 20. Lemons have 46. The crayfish has 200. In humans and all mammals the male chromosome pair is X and Y. The female pair is XX. In the bird world it is reversed. The male bird has two identical chromosomes; whereas, the hen has two different ones. Are you surprised?—Mobile, Ala.

Dear Mo: Am I surprised? Wow! I had no idea. Thanks for the fill in. If a crayfish writes in and asks how many chromosomes he has, I'll be able to tell him.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Wyoming Territory passed a law granting woman suffrage in 1890. The World Almanac recalls that adult women in New Jersey could vote in general elections under a constitution adopted in 1776, provided they were "worth 50 Pounds Proclamation money, with clear estate in the same." In 1807, this provision was "reinterpreted" and voting was limited to free white male citizens.

3 Virtues Of Silver

A recent study of free world silver consumption by Handy and Harman of New York City shows that in 1971 the United States increased its coinage production by 1.8 million ounces over the previous year but reduced its industrial uses of the precious metal by five million ounces during the same period.

Of eight major silver users other than the government, five used less silver in 1971 than in 1970, and three actually used more, one of these three being listed as "Commemorative and Collector Art," or producers and private mints issuing medallions, plaques and commemorative coin-medals of silver content for public consumption.

While coin and art medals are still very popular collectors items, there is a growing trend toward "ingots" of varying sizes and in as many different alloys. For the most part these pieces are issued in series as were the round silver medals. But like the coin-medal, some are good buys and some are not, depending on their composition rather than the sculpture they bear.

Silver comes in many forms but usually only three gradations are used in the production of "Commemorative and Collectors Art." 1) Coin silver which represents nothing more than an alloy similar in every respect to that of melted U.S. coins, 2) a slightly richer mix conforming to Sterling silver standards but inferior in quality to 3) .999 fine or pure silver.

Coin Silver
Coin silver is 900 parts silver alloyed with 100 parts copper. When silver was abandoned by most world currencies as the major value ingredient in circulating mediums, it made coins of that composition available for induction into private use.

Collectors' objects of coin silver are rarely identified as being of a particular alloy. More often than not no reference is made to the composition but merely tagged as "silver."

Coin silver objects will have a specific gravity value of 10.37.

Sterling Silver
Sterling silver contains only .925 more silver than coin silver, which makes it highly desirable for such things as jewelry, table service and commemorative pieces but prohibitive as currency.

It is usually 925 parts silver and 75 parts copper. In accordance with standards set for the British pound sterling, coinage in that classification is held at 500 parts silver joined with 500 parts of a base alloy. This formula should not be confused with that of Sterling silver fabricated into commemorative coin-medals or ingots.

Sterling silver products should be marked "Sterling" and will show a specific gravity value of 10.372.

Living Costs Rise Even In Portugal

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The "in" places for retirement in Europe are gradually going "out." As favored spots become popular, prices go up. And the newest "in" place, Portugal, which may have been the last refuge for bargain hunters, is on its way up, too, and out, maybe.

"If retired people are going there because they expect it to be inexpensive, they may be in for a shock," says Betty Watson, noted cookbook author who lives in Portugal. In the three-and-a-half years she has lived there prices have tripled, "but it still may be less expensive than any other similar place abroad."

It all depends on what you want, and how much you can spend, she advises. It costs her less to live in Portugal than when she lived in the United States. But the average person thinks of Europe as a nice place to live on a small income.

A decade-or-so ago retired couples could live comfortably, renting quaint little houses and apartments for $50 a month or less in many countries. You may still be able to find such places if you want to be isolated, but Americans like to be in the center of things. They are gregarious.

Miss Watson's apartment in a suburb of Lisbon is in a modern elevator building. The large three-bedroom, three-bath apartment (with dishwasher) has a balcony overlooking the water. The $140 a month rental is far less than one would pay for a comparable apartment in a thriving city in the United States.

Tourists may find country hotel rooms for $2 double with bath, and meals are far less than they are in the cities where, for example, a government price-controlled four-course dinner costs between $2 and $4. If you don't want to eat four courses, and most Americans do not, the alternative may be a doggy bag.

Household help is still expensive although Miss Watson points out that help is getting scarcer because "Americans will pay more and they have spoiled it for everyone." She pays $40 a month for a full-time six-day-a-week maid who cooks, cleans and launders.

As soon as the Portuguese hear English spoken, the price goes up, she comments. One must bargain, and you cannot if you don't speak Portuguese "a very difficult language." Rental prices on apartments double in season, and the only time to look for one is between October and April (January and February are rainy months) but even then "you must take your time looking."

Most Americans assume Portuguese speak Spanish, but they do not, she explains.

The social climate is different and Americans may become lonely.

"Portuguese have big families and stay close. They may say they will invite you for tea, but you will not hear from silver, which is usually given in ounces rather than grains.

1) Reduce the grain weight to ounces and multiply by the purity to ascertain the amount of pure silver content. Multiply this figure by the price per ounce as reflected in the daily market.

Example: A 4800 grain .999 silver ingot would weigh 10 ounces at 480 grains per troy ounce. Multiplied by .999 would result in 9.99 ounces of pure silver. This figure multiplied by the value will show the true amount of intrinsic value in the silver.

them. Or you may telephone at their invitation and they will put you off for one reason or another. They are courteous but it is difficult to get beyond their surface politeness," she points out.

Most people think of Portugal as a hot Mediterranean country, but it is an Atlantic coast country. The weather has been described much like San Francisco's, she says. There are no extremes, but the lack of central heating makes it important to wear warm clothes indoors. One becomes accustomed to the coolness of a house.

As for food she was shocked recently at food prices in Connecticut but was sure some foods would be as high in Lisbon. The meat is not as good, but the fish is wonderful, although rising in price. As a good cook the two foods she misses most are sour cream and celery, unobtainable in Portugal.

Clothes are very expensive and much of her shopping in the United States and other countries is for fabric that her modiste might turn into pretty clothes at less cost.

Miss Watson lived in Greece for a year and in other European countries, but she loves everything about Portugal, she says. On a recent trip around the Mediterranean to coral recipes for her new book on Mediterranean foods, she decided one could live perhaps in Cyprus as inexpensively as anywhere in Europe, if one wanted to get away from it all. But it is much too far away to intrigue Americans in retirement, in her opinion.

CENTENARY GUILD STUDIES FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Centenary church met in the church parlor during February.

Mrs. Mamie Cole was program chairman. The meeting was opened with group singing.

Mrs. Cole presented her guest, Mrs. La Belle Merriman, who gave an interesting demonstration on Flower Arrangements.

For spiritual growth, Mrs. Margaret Kroush read an article, Counting Sheep.

Mrs. Evelyn Dickerson, guild president, conducted the business session. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Hazel Alred and Mrs. Catherine Culp. It was voted to make a donation to the emergency fund.

Meeting was adjourned. One guest and eleven members were present.

Hostess for the month was Mrs. Hazel Swearingen.

Nuisances We Could Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without: Hotels with a daily rate higher than the doctor used to charge you for taking out your appendix.
Girls who lose a contact lens when you're halfway across a busy street and the light has just turned red.
The sound of a bus door slamming shut in your face when you've sprinted 50 yards and you're too winded to swear at the driver.

Trying to fix a hole in your pocket with a safety pin so you won't leave a trail of coins wherever you go.
The look of personal outrage on the faces of clerks when you buy a 10-cent package of mints and give them a $20 bill to change. After all, doesn't somebody have to change $20 bills in this world?
Waiting for an aspirin to take effect.
Having a straggly blonde with nicotine-stained fingers read your palm at a cocktail party.

Following in heavy traffic a car whose driver is struggling out of his coat because he feels too hot.
Being stopped at the entrance of an alley at midnight by a suspicious looking stranger and asked for a match.
Helping your 10-year-old daughter write an essay for her English class on "What Is An Oedipus Complex?"
Dreams in which you go to church naked—and thus can't drop any money in the collection plate.
Keeping a stamp collection for 30 years only to be told by a dealer at the end of that time that your entire hoard is worth less than the price of the albums that house it.
Figuring out just what kind of life you'll have to face if all you have to live on is your company's retirement income.
Making small talk with the athletic father of a pretty girl you have no intention of marrying.
Sitting next to your mother-in-law at a Broadway play which suddenly begins to flower with four-letter words.
Kidding a career gal about the women's liberation movement, and then learning later that her income is exactly twice yours.
Finding out, after a long study, that the only thing poisoning your environment is yourself.
From these and other nuisances, perils and predicaments, deliver us. Amen.

Princess Alexandra, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, will visit Hong Kong next October.

CONCORD AID IN MARTIN HOME

CONCORD — The Concord Ladies Aid met March 2 at the home of Mrs. Vinnie Martin with Miss Bernice Martin assisting.
Mrs. Ruth Gerdes, president, presided. Mrs. Hazel McDanald led the pledge to the flags and Bible and offered prayer. Sixteen members responded to roll with a plant exchange.
Mrs. Kay Ater gave the secretary's report, and Mrs. Faye McAllister gave the treasurer's report. The thought for the month was given by Mrs. Faye McAllister. An interesting program, Give to Others, was presented by Mrs. Veryl Brockhouse.

World Day of Prayer was held on March 3 at the Concord Methodist church with the Concord Christian church assisting. Those on the committee were Mrs. Esther Elliott, Mrs. Eleanor Hess, Mrs. Kay Ater and Mrs. Barbara DeGroot.
Delicious refreshments were served and the social hour was enjoyed by all.
Prizes went to Mrs. Kay Ater, Mrs. Faye McAllister and Mrs. Nellie Newton. The door prize was won by Mrs. Clea Faye Taylor. The meeting was closed by members repeating the motto, led by Mrs. Marilyn Smith.
The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Kathryn Crews' home April 6.

Swallows traditionally return to the Mission of San Juan Capistrano on St. Joseph's Day, March 19, and depart on San Juan's Day, Oct. 23.

The long length looms as the VIP promise for summer. Impressions by Justin McCarty see it as a two-part story. Dress falls from square open neckline (left) and jacket has rounded collar. Both are in black and white polyester print. The shirt dress (center) from Jeanne Durrell of Kohen-Ligon-Folz has sleeveless white bodice and box-pleated skirt and is teamed with clean-cuffed jacket in polyester and cotton seersucker checks. Jo Hardin mixes and matches with pleasing plurality in an anchors aweigh theme (right). Polyester and cotton voile shirt is shown with polyester and cotton pique hot shorts and tie-wrap skirt. These designs are from the Texas Fashion Creators.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Heartbeat Heard Through Ear

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to know what it can be that makes me hear my heart beat through my right ear. This condition is almost driving me crazy, because it happens every time I am lying down trying to get to sleep. I have gone to the Eye, Ear and Throat Clinic, but they can't find anything wrong with my ears.

Dear Reader—It is perfectly normal. Many people can lie on their side and hear their heart beat. I suppose that a person who is more conscious and aware of his body is more apt to hear his heart beat; and, of course, if the heart beats very forcefully, this is a factor.

Actually, the force of the heart beat is much greater than most people realize. In the old-fashioned spring beds you could watch the bed move in relationship to the heart beat. There is even one device, the ballisto cardiogram, which has been designed to take advantage of the fact that the body vibrates with each heart beat. These instruments record the actual oscillations of the whole body that occurs with each beat. There are many variations of these including bars that are rested on the shin bones and devices that are placed on the chest. But they all attest to the fact that the mechanical force of the heart beat can cause the entire body to vibrate. I think the best thing I can tell you is just to stop worrying about it. It hasn't anything to do with your ears.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you tell me why nitroglycerin is prescribed five minutes before a meal? Also what is tincture of belladonna for?

Dear Reader—Nitroglycerin tablets are commonly used to relieve chest pain caused by heart disease (angina pectoris). They can also cause relaxation of the muscles in the esophagus. I would guess, however, that the reason the nitroglycerin is being given before meals is to prevent any pain or difficulty from the heart. Some people who have chest pain after eating because of the heart can be successfully treated this way. The tablet before the meal prevents the chest pain. In a similar fashion, nitroglycerin tablets are sometimes prescribed before exercise which ordinarily would produce chest pain.

Tincture of belladonna is an antispasmodic. It is sometimes used in digestive upsets and problems such as stomach ulcers or related disorders. It also has a soothing or sedative-like effect. It, too, is frequently used in treatment of heart disease. Thus, I would think that both of these medicines are being given for that reason, although it is not beyond the realm of possibility that they might be used for spasm of the esophagus.

Opening lead—♥2

The suit preference signal was invented by Hy Lavinthal of Trenton, N.J. in the early thirties although others have claimed the credit.

Today's hand shows this convention in its best form. East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and, irrespective of which heart South elects to play, East decides to return the suit in the hope that the lead was a singleton.

East wants his partner to lead back a diamond and the suit preference signal enables him to tell his partner to make that lead.

East returns the nine of hearts. West ruffs, notes that his partner has led back a high heart and leads back the higher of the two suits he must choose between. East takes his ace of diamonds, gives his partner another ruff and leaves the declarer tearing his hair in frustration.

If East held the ace of clubs he would have returned the four of hearts to ask for the lower suit.
Simple? Effective? It sure is. However lots of players have become suit preference happy. They try to give suit preference signals in all sorts of situations and lose sight of the fact that the suit preference signal should only be used when it is unmistakable and is not to take the place of the basic high card from come-on, or strength, and low cards for weakness.

Vanishing Porridge

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—The traditional porridge of oatmeal and rolled oats for breakfast is fast disappearing in Australia. Government statistics show that in 1939 more than five pounds of porridge was eaten annually by every Aussie. Now it averages out at ounces.

An Ex-Con Sounds Off On Prison Reform

By TOM TIEDE
JERSEY CITY, N.J. (NEA)—Prison inmates in Washington State have drawn up blueprints for a new institution. Convicts in California have demanded an audience with the governor, or else. Some thugs and thieves and pickpockets in New York want to establish a trade union inside their penitentiary.

Guerrero is an ex-con himself. A small time former bad guy. He once tried to defraud the government. He has spent short stretches in three jails, but all the current talk about prison reform leaves him with a decidedly curled lip.

"My God," says Alfonso Guerrero, "what's it all coming just what's wrong with prisons. The cons have been running them for years. I spent five months in the Cook County (Chicago) jail and even the guards there are under the inmates' thumbs. The biggest and toughest guys take over. And everybody bows down. I had to call them 'sir' and things like that. If you don't get in line—too bad. More than once I've seen the creeps jump on somebody who didn't follow orders." Guerrero sighs. Mumbles an obscenity about prisoner rights. Groan.

"I remember when I got into trouble with one of the inmates in charge of Cook County. He said I took his tin coffee cup. Well, I don't know, maybe I did. But it was a mistake. Coffee cups look alike. But he didn't care if it was a mistake or not. He got some of his pals together and that was it for me. That's the way some of them are. Animals. The bad comes through, in jail or out." Guerrero remembers the incident bitterly. Just as he remembers the one evening, long ago, he himself was a victim of animal crime. He was mugged in the street. Beaten. Kicked. "I lost some sight in one of my eyes."

He remembers these things because, he says, somebody has to stand up and talk out. Crooks are crooks. I don't say we should treat them like dogs. But let's not get carried away with this 'rights' business. I don't think a guy who kills a cop or rapes a girl has any rights."

So it is that Al Guerrero is standing up and speaking out. Albeit in a comparative whisper. "I don't make much noise," he says, "because I'm nobody."

Guerrero is 35. Part Indian and part Mexican-American. He dropped out of the sixth grade to make a couple dollars a day weeding flax in California. And he hasn't progressed much since. Right now he works odd jobs for about $40 a week. He lives in an 8-by-12-foot room with a table, two chairs and a squeaky bed.

A nobody. "But I'm not dumb," he says. And he has seized on a subject he is familiar with—bad guys—to "make some contribution to the world." He contributes by arguing con against cons. He writes letters to editors. He sits front row at civic meetings. He calls up the metropolitan radio talk shows. He is that pesky little man who is forever on the fringe of things, raising his arm.

About poverty and prisoners: "People don't rob stores because they're raised in the ghetto. They do it because they know they've got a good chance of getting away free." (The FBI estimates that only 20 percent of U.S. crimes are ever solved.)

About jail conditions: "Most convicts eat better in jail than they do out of it. Most keep cleaner, most get more rest, most have better medical attention, most have better working habits. It's not great, jail. But then it shouldn't be."

And, especially about ex-convicts: "I admit it's hard for a guy out of prison to become president. But I think a lot of these guys are screaming because they don't want to accept what is open for them. I don't think an ex-con should start at the top. I don't think he should be a prima donna. I think he ought to be willing to work his way back into society's good graces. Look at me. Now, I'm no big thing. I just work at odd jobs. I clean out toilets or whatever I get. But it's honest work. And nobody has ever asked me if I'm an ex-con. Trouble with so many guys out of jail today is they are lazy. If they really wanted, most of them could get jobs and work their way back up the ladder."

Al Guerrero. Ex-bad guy. Sounding off. Because, he says, somebody has got to.

SOVIET SCIENTISTS
VISIT BATAVIA SITE

BATAVIA, Ill. (AP) — Seven physicists from the Soviet Union have arrived at the National Accelerator Laboratory near Batavia to join U.S. scientists in experiments probing the fundamental nature of matter, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Thursday.

The collaboration is provided under terms of a memorandum on cooperation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, the AEC said. The binational team will use the NAL's new 200 billion electron volt proton accelerator in studying "elastic scattering properties of elementary particles," the AEC said.

Illinois Ag Officials Optimistic About Trading With Red China

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Although the picture still is clouded by veils of diplomatic uncertainty, Illinois agriculture officials are exceedingly optimistic about trading with Communist China, perhaps within a few years.

Illinois, exporting more agricultural commodities than any other state, could profit significantly by an upsurge of trade with the huge Communist nation, which is buying grains from Canada, Australia and other countries.

Gordon L. Ropp, state director of agriculture, said in an interview that he expects to see an Illinois trade mission go to Peking within a year to begin talks about selling feed grains, most probably soybeans.

"I think that, within five years, we could be trading as much (with China) as we're now trading with Japan," Ropp predicted, noting that China's population is three times that of Japan.

In 1970, Illinois farmers shipped more than $200 million worth of soybeans overseas, most of it going to Japan, which also imports soybeans from Communist China. Asian experts say, however, China's exporting of soybeans does not mean necessarily that they are in need of the commodity domestically.

China's chief import is wheat, a crop Illinois does not produce extensively. But Ropp says soybeans probably would have a good market and, eventually, live animals might be traded, followed by a large variety of feed grains.

Since World War II, the Japanese diet has changed somewhat with the introduction of western agricultural products. Ropp and other state officials feel a similar evolution might occur in China over the years.

Prof. Robert Crawford, chairman of the University of Illinois' Asian Studies Center, notes that any initial trading with China would be limited to grains and other agricultural commodities.

"I'm cautiously optimistic about this," he says. "It's really risky to start predicting huge amounts of trade." He adds, however, that Ropp's five-year estimate "could very well materialize."

Despite the optimism in some quarters, most state farmers find the prospects of trading with Red China too distant and too uncertain, agricultural leaders say.

"I'm no foreign expert. I'm a farmer, and I haven't really given it much thought," declared Ray Watson, president of the Illinois Farmers Union which represents more than 3,500 families in Illinois and generally has been the spokesman for the family farmer.

Harold B. Steel, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, also says that talk about trading with China has been minimal.

"I hear very little about this," he says. "You hear them (farmers) saying 'I think it's a good and wholesome thing that he (President Nixon) went to Peking,' but beyond that it's still too much speculation."

Watson praised Nixon's trip as "a great step" but emphasized that he feels prospects of China's 800 million people becoming a new agricultural market would not be "a magic solution to the overproduction of agriculture."

"Freer trade isn't the complete answer," Watson says. "The answer is prices. If we're going to sell at a loss, it's not beneficial to farmers. Any trade, if we can get the price (we want) is favorable. But if we're going to subsidize Red China's economy with cheap food, then the American farmer should not carry the burden."

Steel, whose organization claims to represent nearly 200,000 farmers, says that Chinese trade could cause extensive increases in production in Illinois but that precise effects could not be anticipated now.

"We are holding in reserve acres that can be highly productive if we have purchasing facilities," Steel says. "I think secretly among us farmers we would hope that China, as well as other nations, will be strong so we can give the competitive enterprise in agriculture an even greater impetus."

Steel, like other farmers, emphasizes: "The No. 1 question is do they (China) have the cash to pay for our products?" Communist China has accumulated dollars through

Hong Kong and other indirect trading routes, but the nation generally has opposed credit buying, preferring the "pay-as-you-go" approach, Prof. Crawford says.

What effect this might have on U.S.-China trading is uncertain, but most farm leaders say they would prefer to receive in return for their goods American or, possibly, Canadian dollars.

In addition, Steel and Ropp agree, China may have a variety of goods in exchange for agricultural commodities; but they say, they don't know what these goods might be.

"We know there are 800 million people there; and we know that, for 23 years, they've gotten along without our products," Steel says. "I'm sure they're not going to buy in huge quantities immediately, but I would expect gradual trade arrangements to form. But, then, this is strictly shooting from the hip on my part."

Hat-Wearers
Near Chicago
Terrorized

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — An elusive red-tailed hawk that has been swooping from trees and snatching hats has divided this community on Chicago's North Shore.

Police and some residents, fearful of children being injured, want the bird destroyed. Other residents, who have fed the predator from their back doorsteps, protest the death penalty. No injuries have been reported.

Michale Lichtwalt, animal warden of Highland Park, said attempts to capture the hawk have been futile and there may be no choice but to shoot the bird.

"He's too smart for traps," Lichtwalt said. "Evidently, he's been caught before. He stays away from them. Even to shoot him might be difficult. He flies a wide and extensive range, usually hitting the same spots; but his times vary."

Lichtwalt said he's one of several persons who have been victimized by the bird during the last month. He said the bird dived from a tree, snatched his fur-trimmed leather cap and dropped it about a block away.

Highland Park police records show three similar incidents reported by citizens. Arthur Swagren, in charge of the record section, says many more have not been reported officially.

Lichtwalt said a morning jogger who was struck on the back of the head one day was seen wearing a hardhat the next as he pounded the pavement in a sweat suit.

"The hawk just seems to want to dive bomb people," Lichtwalt said. "Persons who have fed it at their back doors don't want it hurt, and others are kind of frightened by the whole thing."

Majorca, a neighboring island to Irving's home on Ibiza off the coast of Spain. There they "formulated the scheme to defraud McGraw-Hill."

The first step to bring the hoax to fruition came on Jan. 3 when Irving sent a letter to Beverly Jane Loo, an editor at McGraw-Hill, which had published his previous book.

"Fake!" Irving told Miss Loo he had sent Hughes a copy and "received a warm response."

Toward the end of January, Irving wrote Miss Loo that Hughes had expressed an interest in doing an autobiography.

At the end of the month, the indictment said, Irving forged three letters in Hughes' handwriting, using as a model a sample of Hughes' handwriting contained in the Dec. 21, 1970, issue of Newsweek magazine.

He took these to New York where he met with McGraw-Hill executives on Feb. 10 and discussed with them how he would compile the autobiography.

During those months, Irving also persuaded his wife to help in the plot.

During this time, Irving executed a contract granting McGraw-Hill exclusive rights to publish the book and fixing the financial arrangements. Meanwhile, Suskind flew to New York where he did research on Hughes at the New York Public Library, in the confidential files of Time Inc. and even in the files of McGraw-Hill.

On April 13, Irving met with Miss Loo and with Ralph Graves, managing editor of Life, and on the same day McGraw-Hill gave him a check for $97,500 for advance royalties, $50,000 of which was to be paid to Hughes. Irving had already received $2,500.

To set this up, Irving had spent four days in San Juan during which he forged Hughes' signature to a letter of agreement, dated March 4, 1971, "purportedly granting Irving exclusive rights to write and publish the autobiography."

Irving told McGraw-Hill "he had met with Hughes in San Juan and that Hughes had signed the document in his presence."

On a trip he took with Baroness Nina van Pallandt, a singer, "Irving travelled to various places in Mexico for the purpose of deceiving McGraw-Hill Inc. that he was meeting with Hughes."

There were other trips, including one to Paradise Island in the Bahamas where Hughes then lived, to gather information and to persuade McGraw-Hill that the two men were meeting "when in truth and in fact, Irving did not meet Hughes."

Irving took material from the Library of Congress in Washington dealing with a congressional hearing on war profiteering, where Hughes had appeared, and also obtained material from the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

McCarthy Says
Priorities Need Reorganizing

CHICAGO (AP)—Eugene J. McCarthy, former Minnesota senator matched against Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine in Illinois' Democratic presidential primary March 21, toured Chicago Thursday and continued to stress the need for reorganizing the nation's priorities.

McCarthy visited Chicago State Hospital, institution for mentally and emotionally ill, and said more funds should be available for such hospitals.

He spoke to more than 500 students at the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration and listed as three areas of what he called "wasteful expenditure" the military, the manned space program and the interstate highway program.

"It's not just money," McCarthy said. "It's the wasteful expenditure of people and materials." He said funds should be redirected to the areas of housing, medical facilities and education facilities.

McCarthy also told the group he recently visited East St. Louis.

"We send astronauts to the moon to explore what's up there," McCarthy said, "perhaps we should send an astronaut to East St. Louis to bring back about 80 pounds of debris. After they analyse it, they might find that once there was a civilization there."

McCarthy also was scheduled to spend Friday touring Chicago and suburban areas.

TINY TIM CONTESTING SEPARATION SUIT
NEW YORK (AP) — Tiny Tim said today he is contesting Miss Vicki's suit for separation or divorce because "I don't ever want to be separated from her. I'll always love her. I even love her more now than ever."

Moreover, he added in telephone interviews, should her suit be successful "if she marries again, I'll consider she's living in sin."

Busing Still Main Issue
Before Voters In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eight Democratic candidates and a lone Republican stumped Florida on Thursday searching for votes in Tuesday's presidential primary. Busing of public school pupils was the main issue.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama bypassed a planned campaign visit to Key West after an aide detected racial unrest was too hot there.

"Wait 'til Wallace gets here," blacks had chanted Wednesday night as word spread about the Alabama governor's scheduled visit. Schools have been closed in the nation's southern most city since racial disturbances at Key West High School on Tuesday.

The schools are scheduled to reopen Monday. The one Republican campaigner, Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, spoke in Fort Lauderdale against busing while a group of GOP celebrities and officials led by Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona began to tout the Nixon administration's busing in an Appreciation Day rally.

The busing of school children continued to be the central issue and Florida's governor, Reubin Askew, loomed as a key figure along with the White House aspirants.

Askew is fighting a non-binding antibusing straw vote on the March 14 slate. He got the backing Thursday of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who made a stop in Tallahassee.

Wallace, at a Miami breakfast meeting with 200 persons, charged that busing was senseless.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, the Democratic winner of last week's New Hampshire presidential preference primary, admitted he faced an uphill fight against Wallace in the Florida election.

"I am never happy with less than first place before a primary," Muskie said in Tallahassee, "but I might be satisfied with less after this one."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City, accompanied by aides and newsmen, went to RG Industries in Miami, where he claimed 10,000 handguns called "Saturday night specials" are assembled weekly.

"May we come in?" the mayor asked a woman who came to the firm's front gate. Lindsay waved an empty handgun which he said an aide had purchased last week for $25 by merely showing a driver's license and a credit card.

Some Ways To Remove Burn Spots From Pans

By POLLY CRAMER... DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Mrs. O. who had popcorn burns in her stainless steel pan that I have used the following method to clean burns out of mine: Put about an inch of vinegar in the bottom of the pan, add water and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and sprinkle a thick layer of cleansing powder on the stain and let it stand for several hours. Rub well with a stainless steel scouring pad and the burns should come right off. If not, repeat the vinegar and powder treatment, then wash with hot suds. I do hope Mrs. O. has the same good luck with this that I have always had.—MRS. V.J.F.

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Mrs. O. that I have had very good results removing black burn spots from stainless steel pans by rubbing LIGHTLY with VERY FINE sandpaper which does not scratch them.—MRS. D. B.

DEAR POLLY—To remove the burns from her stainless steel pans, Mrs. O. could boil a tablespoon of cream of tartar in a cup of water and then scour carefully so as not to scratch the finish.—MRS. S.P.

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY—My family enjoys sweet potatoes which I serve often; but if I peel them while raw, my hands are covered with "tar." How can I remove this and not have to wait three days for it to wear off?—SARA

DEAR POLLY—One of my Pet Peeves is with the small amount of glue on postage stamps. I usually have to put more glue on a stamp to make it stick to an envelope. Many times I have received letters with "Postage Due" stamped on them, but I can see where stamps have been. It would certainly be nice if the glue would stick even though it does taste so terrible.—MRS. J.H.B.

DEAR POLLY—Our home was recently burglarized so I have a word or two of advice for the wise. Many people pay their bills and then throw the sales slips away. If you have these sales receipts showing amounts and date of purchase, serial and model numbers of appliances, pictures and other descriptive material, it will help the insurance company handle your claim quicker.—LAURA

WATER SUPERINTENDENT PASSES WRITTEN TEST VIRGINIA — The Virginia water superintendent Rick Smith has notified the Virginia city council he has successfully passed his written examination for superintendent. The mayor received council approval for Smith to attend the Illinois Sewage Works Operators conference in Springfield April 17-19.

Wall Looks Back Over Long Year

"I knew we had deficiencies in rebounding and experience before the season started and when our shooting was poorer than I expected, it all made for a very long season."

Thus Coach Bill Wall summed up the 1971-72 basketball season for the MacMurray College Highlanders. The team finished the campaign with a 4-22 mark, the worst in the school's 15 year basketball history.

The veteran Mac coach went on to say, "It's hard to say which hurt more: the lack of height or the lack of experience. One of my first priorities is to find a big kid. (i.e. over 6'5")"

"We also had to play several freshmen at the varsity level when they should have been developing at the junior varsity level, as we had only three juniors and no seniors on the squad."

Despite the record, Coach Wall is already looking toward next year.

"The experience these kids acquired this year was invaluable and I think that through the last four games the boys were probably the most united ball club we've had in three years. They played very well together and never quit through the whole year."

"The kids at the J.V. level also showed a lot of development under Coach Dave Berst. I have to think we've only a 6'7" center away from being a good small-college club."

Leading the team attack was junior captain Dave Bremer (Sparta) who contributed 354 points for a 13.6 ppg average and 201 rebounds. The 6'5" forward was the only Highlander to appear in every ball game and took over the No. 15 spot on the all-time Mac scoring list with 757 points.

Woodring, Steers Top IC Honors

Center Terry Woodring and forward Don Steers shared honors for 1971-72 for the Illinois College basketball squad. Woodring's sensational game against Greenville College here Feb. 8 gave him three of the four one-game best efforts for the season, while Steers made nine of nine free throws against MacMurray in the season finale for the other, then was named to the second team of the Prairie College Conference.

Woodring missed the school rebound record by one against Greenville, getting 24 caroms. The record of 25 was established by Charlie Martin four years ago. In the same contest, Woodring had the season high of 32 points and also the year's best field goal effort — 14 on 25 tries.

Following the season, Woodring, a senior from Caseyville (Collinsville high school), was named by his teammates as most valuable player.

Steers, who also was the school's top pitcher in baseball last spring, is a junior from Barry.

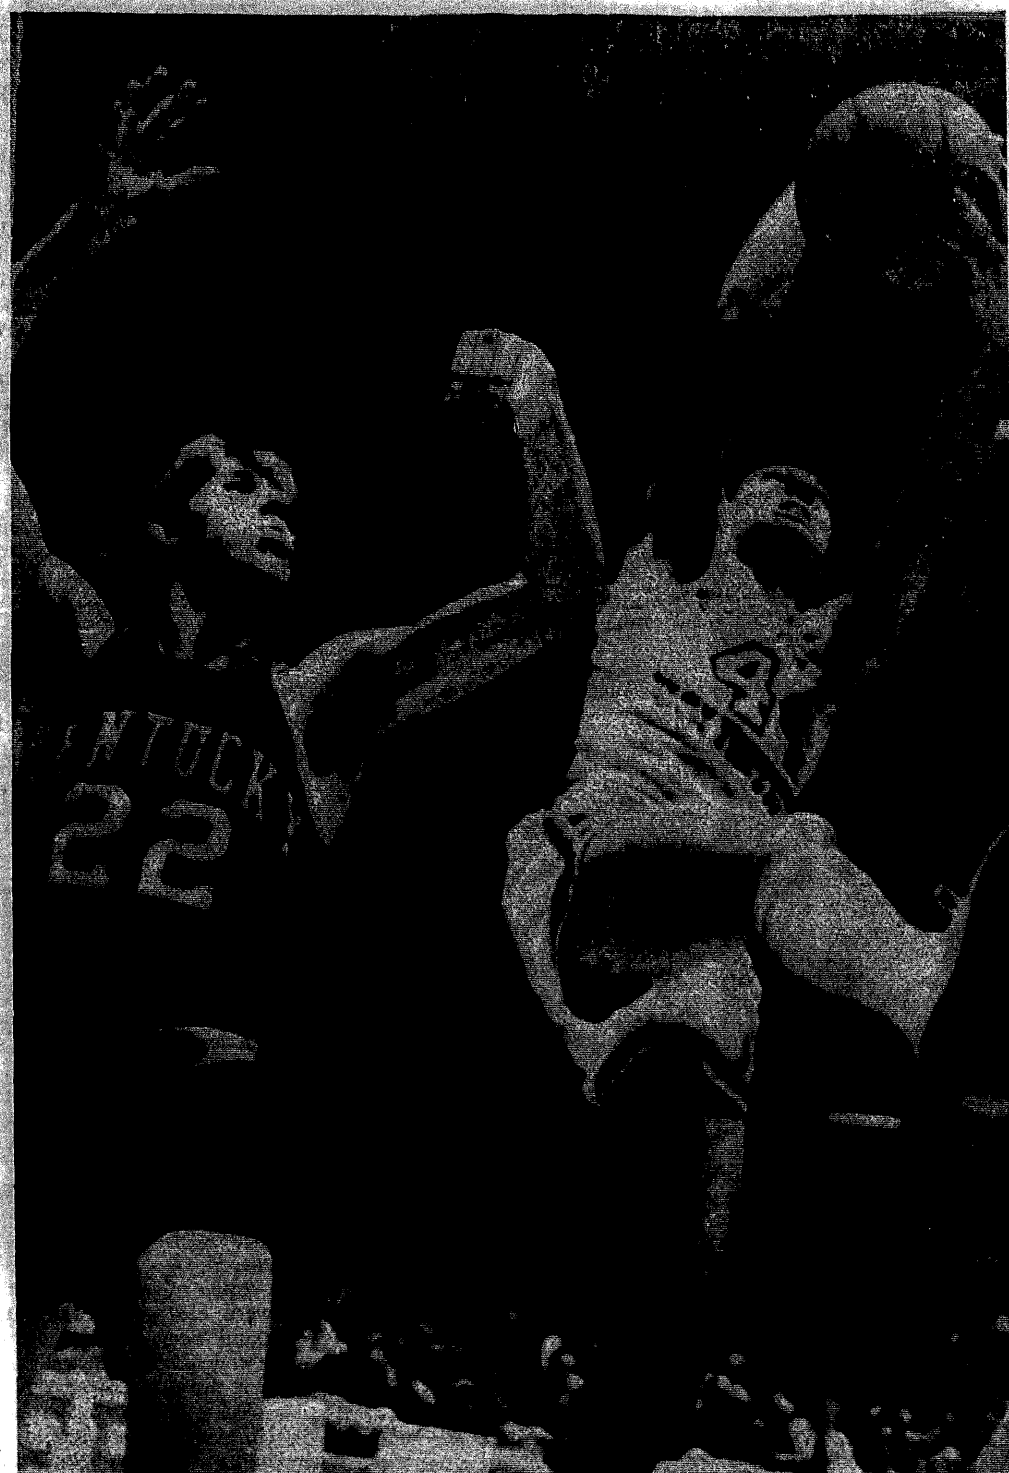

Junior forward and center Darryl Mayhew of Aledo won the free throw award, which is named in honor of Ernest G. Hildner, Sr., participant in the world's first basketball game and father of an Illinois College faculty member. Mayhew sank 28 of 33 attempts for an .848 percentage.

Although the Blueboys suffered through a 2-20 season (1-9 in the Prairie College Conference), their poorest mark since a 1-8 showing in 1952-53, they have high hopes for the future. Woodring is the only member of the squad who will be lost through graduation.

White Sox Vote For Strike Plan

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox voted unanimously Thursday 31-0, to go out on strike unless the major league club owners come up with an acceptable increase for the players' current pension agreement expiring March 31.

The strike vote was the first taken by a major league team this spring and followed a 90-minute meeting with Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Miller revealed that the owners, who he said had offered a $372,000 increase in January, scaled down their proposal to $250,000 in a meeting held in Sarasota Wednesday and attended by John Gaherin, who negotiates for the club owners.

Miller said the strike could take several forms and could be "no work after March 31" or "they could take every Saturday afternoon or Monday night off — or refuse to play in any other game scheduled for national television, including the All-Star game."

Miller, who has won more than $13 million in player benefits since taking office in 1966, charged that the owners by reducing their offer were "deliberately trying to provoke a players' strike."

"That's the only way you can explain that kind of negotiating behavior," Miller said.

Miller and Dick Moss, the legal counsel for the players' association, are in the midst of their annual spring training tour in which they visit all 24 major league clubs. The White Sox were the seventh team on their itinerary.

All six cars this year will be powered by turbo-charged Offenhauser engines of about 800 to 900 horsepower.

Andretti and Unser have driven the prototype machine which was unveiled at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Unser drove it Tuesday and Wednesday and Andretti on Thursday, averaging about 155 to 165 miles per hour around the 2.5-mile oval.

Designer Maurice Phillippe of England said the wings were for aerodynamic design and positioned to keep them in free moving air flow.

Each of the main wings is about 18 inches long and extends 32 inches from the bottom of the tub of the car's body. They cannot extend beyond the middle of the tire treads, according to USAC regulations.

The vehicles weigh about the minimum of 1,350 pounds and the body is about three inches from the track at the rear and 2 1/4 inches at the front.

Phillippe said the new car embraces new concepts in such areas as cooling, suspension and driver comfort.

The prototype shown Thursday cost about $250,000 to build, Militch said, but the average cost of the six or seven planned to be ready for the Memorial Day race will be about half of that figure.

The front suspension is ultra-streamlined with suspension sumably will vote when Miller and Moss arrive in their camps. The association, said Miller, has requested a 17 per cent increase in benefits which would amount to about $700,000, and would increase the owners' shares to $6.1 million annually.

Miller stressed that not all of the club owners are necessarily against this request. "Some few owners just say 'the hell with the player.' This is consensus by loud mouth. The other owners allow a few, loud-mouths to speak for them.

"Yet each owner when talking to his players is explicit in explaining to them 'I'm not against you, it's the other owners.'"

Miller said another meeting of the pension committee, which has both player and owner representation, would be held in Tampa Friday.

Illini Player Convicted On Theft Charge

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — John Wilson, 19, former starting half-back for the University of Illinois football team, has been convicted of theft and forgery connected with a stolen gasoline credit card.

The verdict was returned Wednesday in Circuit Court. Wilson, then a member of the sophomore class, was arrested Oct. 15 when he allegedly tried to use a credit card belonging to James Eversole, a speech assistant at the university, at a service station.

Wilson later was suspended for academic reasons.

In defense testimony, Wilson, of Miami, Fla., said he was given the card by a non-student in exchange for several rides. He said he knew of a number of other football players who had been given such cards by other persons and took it to be an unofficially recognized athletic fringe benefit.

Sentencing was postponed pending post-trial motions.

Thornridge Heads All-Star Prep List

CHICAGO (AP) — Quinn Buckner and teammate Boyd Batts of defending state champion Thornridge, and Roger Powell of Joliet Central were unanimous choices as repeaters on the 12th annual Associated Press Illinois All-State Basketball squad named Thursday.

The three were the only clean-sweep selections in otherwise close All-State voting by the AP's prep board.

Mike Bonzak also was named on the 15-member squad to give Thornridge three berths.

Rounding out the honor squad were Paul Mellen, LaSalle-Peru; Larry Moore, Quincy; Jim Kopatz, Springfield Lanphier; Jim Crews, Normal High; Terry Ripka, Granite City; Nate Williams, Chicago Crane; Bill Rucks, Waukegan; Greg Smith, Aurora East; Don Noort, Chicago Christian; Norm Cook, Lincoln; and Gerald Coleman, North Chicago.

Other top vote-getters were Mellen, 6-9 hub of LaSalle-Peru, runner-up most of the season to Thornridge in the AP's weekly rating poll; Moore, hot-shooting Quincy ace; and Kopatz, versatile Lanphier star who led last year's state tournament in scoring.

Buckner, although only 6-3, is regarded the state's outstanding player this season, averaging more than 24 points for a Thornridge powerhouse expected to retain its state crown and set an all-time consecutive victory record.

Powell, 6-4, has a 32-point mark and is one of the nation's most wanted college prospects. The 6-7 Batts, the other unanimous choice, always is ready to take up the slack for Thornridge should Buckner let down.

Many outstanding players barely missed landing among the top 15. Two of them were from the small school Class A category — Ripka of Granite City and high-scoring Noort of Chicago Christian.

Gary Schnell, Kankakee East; Mark Loter, Rockford Boylan; Greg Rose, Thornridge; Chris Dolan, Elgin St. Edwards; Rick Taylor, Christian; Mike Moore, Decatur South; Larry Parker, Joliet West; Darrell Hudson, Mounds-Meridian.

Terry Ryan, Lincoln-Way; Andy Pancratz, Hersey; Janis Ludeks, Willowbrook; Rick Bengston, Peoria Richwoods; Lee Scott, Gordon Tech; Kim Arnett, East Peoria.

Ellis Files, Lockport, Lockport; Pete Kasperski, LaSalle-Peru; Ray Adams, Chicago Tilden; Gary Rafe, Herrin; Rick Bussard, Olney; Louis Baxter, DuQuoin; Rick Knarr, Collinsville.

Derrick Glanton, East St. Louis Lincoln; Casey Duncheon, Petersburg Port; Dennis Olson, Wood River; Ray Taylor, Southwestern; Greg Ahart, Edwardsville; Wayne McLain, Peoria Manual.

Dale Haverman, Belleville East; Dave Dingeldine, Washington; Calvin Hightower, Alton; Steve Rich, Hopedale; Dale Meier, Mascoutah; Randy Toepke, Pekin; Bruce Mason, East Moline; Lish Gordon, Peoria Limestone.

Jeff Allen, Springfield South-east; Bob Holmes, Rochester; Rick Mills, Mason City; Dave Hobson, Raymond Lincolnwood; Doug Covington, Jambou; Larry Ottens, Fulton; Mike Harvey, Kewanee; Bob Gray, Kinderhook West Pike; Tim Mieux, Antioch; Brian Banks, Chicago Carver.

The Associated Press' 12th annual Illinois All-State High School Basketball Team:

Meridian Eyes Class 'A' Title

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Mounds-Meridian, the last team to score a victory over defending state champion Thornridge, would like to become the first team to win the Class A Illinois State High School Basketball Championship.

The new division, created for schools with an enrollment of less than 750, winds up this weekend at Assembly Hall, and eight teams remain in the field.

All eight will vie in the quarterfinal round Friday, with Meridian drawing the role of favorite following a rash of upsets in last Tuesday's Super Sectionals.

Meridian, which handed Thornridge its only loss a year ago in the Carbondale Christmas Tournament, takes a brilliant 28-1 record into the quarterfinals and faces St. Edward of Elgin, a team which ended previously undefeated Shabbona's hopes Tuesday in the DeKalb Super Sectional.

St. Edward, the Chicago area's last hope in the Class A tournament, pits a snappy 25-2 record against Meridian.

Those two teams will kickoff the quarterfinals, followed by the Stretor-Woodland vs. Thomson game. Friday night's session pits Raymond-Lincolnwood against Gibson City and Lawrenceville against Quincy Catholic Boys.

Woodland, 25-4, and Thomson, 26-4, took the upset route to Champaign. Woodland eliminated top-ranked Chicago Christian 52-51; and Thomson, the smallest school in the field with an enrollment of less than 150, ousted Farmington 84-73.

Lincolnwood and Gibson City also came up with surprise triumphs in last Tuesday's opening round of the finals, Lincolnwood, 24-6, dumped Champaign 83-78; and Gibson City, 25-3, defeated highly regarded Normal University High 69-61.

Lawrenceville, 22-8, made it

Villanova In Defense Of Crown

DETROIT (AP) — Villanova's powerful track squad, seeking revenge for a one-point loss to Pennsylvania in last week's IC4A meet, opens defense of its NCAA indoor track title Friday confronted by at least three serious challengers.

The Wildcats, who won here last year with a total of 22 points, must defeat Penn and withstand the challenges of Southern California, Texas-El Paso and, possibly, Michigan State to defend their crown.

Villanova's strength is concentrated in running events — such as the 600-yard run, distance medley relay, the two-mile and with Brian McElroy in the 880.

Don Quarrie, the Pan American Games winner in the 60-yard dash, and two strong contenders in the 60-yard hurdles, Lance Babb and Jerry Wilson, are some of the better known performers for Southern California.

But the Trojans also have Henry Hines, the meet's 1971 long-jump champ, plus strength in the 440 and the mile relay.

Pole vaulter Tom Blair, who has cleared 17-3 1/2, and sophomore hurdler Bruce Collins are two of Penn's standouts. Collins wasn't a winner for the Quakers in the IC4A but he piled up points while running 10 races in one day. He competed in the sprints and 440 plus the hurdles.

Texas-El Paso has Fred DeBernardi, who has equalled the NCAA record of 67-10 in the shotput.

Two world-record holders, Herb Washington and Marshall Dill, plus a splendid mile-relay team, form the basis for Michigan State's title hopes.

Villanova has won twice during the seven years since the indoor meet settled in Detroit. Kansas claimed three titles with Missouri and Southern Cal taking one each.

Indiana Prep Player Plans To Join Illini

CHAMPAIGN — Fred Fulmer, an all-city and all-state receiver from Indianapolis (North Central High School) has informed the University of Illinois football staff that he will play for the Fighting Illini next fall.

The 6-3, 200-pound offensive and defensive end for Coach Byron Weaver's North Central team was named to the all-city team and numerous all-state teams for his 1971 performance.

As a junior, Fulmer caught 43 passes for 589 yards and four touchdowns and last fall broke his own school record with 45 receptions for 750 yards and eight touchdowns. He averaged 16.7 yards per catch in 1971.

"A great football player and a great kid," his prep coach says of Fulmer. "He will be a top executive in the future — a real winner in everything he does."

His father, C. Richard (Dick) Fulmer, is a lawyer and graduated from the University of Illinois in 1936.

"I was elated when I received Fred Fulmer's phone call saying that he had definitely decided to cast his future with the Fighting Illini," said Illini head coach Bob Blackman. "Fred is an exceptional individual from every standpoint."

"He is a big, well-proportioned, extremely handsome youngster. He comes from a wonderful family and has a fine mind as evidenced by the fact that he ranks in the top 10 percent of his high school graduates."

"From the football standpoint, I am confident that Fred can have an outstanding college career. He has the size, speed and pass catching ability to play either as an offensive split-end or as a tight end. We feel confident that Fred will be a standout on future Fighting Illini teams."

Unseeded Aussie Upsets Casals In Lady's Tennis

DALLAS (AP) — Unseeded Lesley Hunt of Australia upset second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-3, 3-6, 8-6 Thursday in the third round of the Maureen Connolly Brinker International Ladies Tennis Tournament.

Miss Hunt forced Miss Casals, the leading money winner on the women's professional tennis tour this year, into numerous errors.

Miss Casals clubbed a volley into the net at match point to give the unheralded Miss Hunt the victory.

In another third-round match, Nell Truman of England, ousted Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Ia., 6-3, 6-7 and 7-5.

NORTH DAKOTA LEADS CURLING MEET

CHICAGO (AP) — North Dakota remained on top Thursday as it defeated California 10-4 in the tenth draw of the National Men's Curling Tournament.

North Dakota upped its record to 7-1, while California dropped to 3-5 and a tie for sixth place with Wisconsin.

In other afternoon games Michigan bested Washington 9-5 and then lost to Alaska 8-7, while New York scored its first victory of the tournament with an 11-4 win over Connecticut.

Class 'A' Eight Finalists Ready

CHAMPAIGN — Eight schools with a combined record of 193-40 and a total combined enrollment of 500 less than the state's No. 1-rated team and defending state champion, Dolton Thornridge, converge on the Assembly Hall this weekend for the first Illinois State High School Class A Basketball Tournament.

They are the survivors of 435 schools with enrollments of 750 or less who began the playoff series three weeks ago. The eight finalists square off in quarterfinal action Friday, with the first session set for 12:15 p.m. and the second at 7:00 p.m. Semi-finals Saturday will begin at 12:15 with the third place game set for 7:00 and the championship game at 8:30.

Sporting the best record is Southern Illinois entry Mounds Meridian. Coach Jim Byassee's Bobcats are 28-1 after nipping DuQuoin, 56-55, in the Carbonale Supersectional when forward Darrell Hudson sank a free throw after time had expired.

Quarterfinal pairings send Meridian, one of the early favorites, against Elgin St. Edward (25-2), which nipped Shabbona, 56-54, in overtime, in the DeKalb Supersectional, in the first game. Upset-minded Streater Woodland (25-4), which eliminated pre-tourney favorite Chicago Christian, 52-51, in overtime in the Pontiac Supersectional, faces high scoring Thomson (26-4) in the second afternoon game.

In the evening's first game, Raymond Lincolnwood (24-6), which advanced to the regional title game at Springfield against fourth-place finisher Springfield Lanphier last year in the final one-class meet, goes against Gibson City (24-3) and its one-man scoring gang, guard Dennis Graff, Lawrenceville, a veteran tournament performer with a 22-8 record, battles Quincy Catholic Boys (19-12), which had a steady diet of Class AA competition during the regular season.

Only two of the schools, Lawrenceville and Quincy Catholic Boys have ever made it to the final 16 in previous state tournaments. Lawrenceville is making its ninth appearance in the final 16, while Catholic Boys, formerly Notre Dame of Quincy, is making its third bid for honors. Last year, Catholic Boys fell, 60-59, to Kewanee in the Macomb Supersectional.

Thomson, which has bettered 100 points 10 times this season, is the smallest of the eight survivors with an enrollment of 150. Largest is Lawrenceville at 630. Enrollments of the others are: St. Edward 525, Meridian 520, Gibson City 417, Woodland 375, Catholic Boys 356, (boys only), and Lincolnwood 315. Total enrollment of the eight is 3,288. Thornridge, gunning to become only the fourth school to win back-to-back state titles, has an enrollment of 3,800.

Meridian the last team to beat Thornridge, in the Carbonale Holiday Tournament, last season, also suffered its only loss in the Carbonale Holiday Meet, 44-43, at the hands of Peoria Manual.

Of the 97 players listed on the rosters of the eight survivors, 55 stand 6 feet or taller, while 42 stand less than 6 feet.

Tallest player is Catholic Boys' center Tony Siebers at 6-7. Teammate Dan Pieper, a forward, and Meridian's Curtis Bogan are next tallest at 6-6. Only 12 players stand 6-4 or better.

Leading scorer after Supersectional games was Chrisman's Rick Taylor, who netted 35 points in an 83-78 loss to Lincolnwood. Leading scorer among the teams remaining is Thomson's Dan Robinson at 30. Under the new two-class system, separate new records will be kept for both tournaments.

Mitchell Nabs 1st Round Lead In Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Bolding, drawing Bobby Mitchell bored through blustery winds with a 6-under par 66 Thursday and established the first round lead in the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open golf tournament.

The 29-year-old Mitchell, a pro since he was a 15-year-old in Danville, Va., held a one-stroke lead over big Chris Locker, one of the last to finish in the cool, gusty wind.

Lee Trevino, still seeking his first victory of the season, headed a quartet tied at 68, 4-under-par on the 6,877-yard Rio Tinar Country Club course.

"I made some putts—I've got the right speed and they're starting to fall," said Trevino, who has been plagued with a balky putter most of the season.

He was tied with Babe Hickey, Jerry Abbott and veteran Tommy Aaron.

Gary Player, the South African who always ranks as a major threat in any event he enters, headed a group of a half-dozen at 69, three strokes back.

Also at that figure were George Johnson, rookie Allen Miller, Jerry McGee, veteran Tommy Bolt and Rod Funseth. Jack Nicklaus, 59-year-old Sam Snead and Masters champion Charles Coody were in another big group at 70.

Nicklaus, the only two-time winner this season, last week went past Arnold Palmer and into first place on the all-time money winning list.

Palmer, the defending champion here, had what he called "a kind of blah round," and matched par 72.

Johnson Certain Of Good Year

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Deron Johnson doesn't want to tell general manager John Quinn how to run the Philadelphia Phillies, but the big first baseman thinks Quinn would be crazy to trade him now.

"I've got my best years ahead of me," said the 32-year-old Johnson, who spent the winter in California reading about the Phillies' efforts to trade him.

Johnson had an excellent 1971 season, socking 34 home runs and knocking in 95 runs, while hitting .265. He was rewarded with the best contract of his 11-year major league career, signing for a reported $75,000.

It isn't that the Phillies want to get rid of Johnson. The club needs pitching help and a second baseman. Quinn doesn't want to trade away the future, such promising youngsters as Greg Luinski, Larry Bowa, Don Money, Mike Anderson and Willie Montane. So, he used the veteran Johnson as trade bait.

The failure to trade Johnson may have been a blessing in disguise. He has done nothing but good for the Phillies since Quinn acquired him in 1968 from Atlanta. The Braves and most other clubs thought Johnson was washed up.

It turned out that Johnson played the 1968 season—his last at Atlanta—with a broken hand. He hit .255 with 17 home runs and 80 RBI in 1969, and improved to .256 with 27 homers and 93 RBI the following year. Then came last year's super job.

"I'm important again," says Johnson, who in his first three years in the National League at Cincinnati hit 79 home runs and drove in 300 runs. "I feel like I'm wanted. I'm gonna give them a helluva year."

Johnson isn't upset about the Phillies' attempts to trade him. "I've been playing ball 15 years now and you kind of get used to this stuff," Johnson said before a workout at the Phillies' training camp. "This is something that a ball player has to get used to. I wasn't looking forward to it, but if something happens you just have to adjust to it."

The trouble with the current coaches' association, Crowder said, is the heavy influence of assistant coaches. "And the southeast and south have about twice as many assistant coaches as any other parts of the country."

He said sectional loyalty played an important part in the selection of Alabama's Paul Bryant as coach of the year, over Devaney, whose Nebraska team defeated Bryant's Alabama team in the Orange Bowl to become the nation's No. 1 football team for the second year in a row.

Crowder, whose Colorado team was ranked No. 3 and Chuck Fairbanks, coach of No. 2 ranked Oklahoma, joined Big Eight Commissioner Chuck Neinas, Nebraska Gov. J. J.

Colorado Coach Seeks New Body To Pick Award

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Colorado football Coach Eddie Crowder says he's working on a new coaches' group to pick its own football coach of the year.

Crowder, in Omaha for a charity affair, said he has come to "pay a tribute to Bob Devaney," coach of national champion Nebraska, who he said was the victim of a "great tragedy" for failure to win the Football Coaches of America Coach of the Year award.

He said the organization has a "peculiar system for picking the coach of the year—an unworkable system. It's a great tragedy that Bob Devaney has never been coach of the year."

In a pre-dinner interview, Crowder said he and Billy Vessels of Miami, a former teammate, "have been working on trying to make a new coach of the year award, something along the lines of the Heisman Trophy, to be voted on by the head coaches of major colleges only."

The trouble with the current coaches' association, Crowder said, is the heavy influence of assistant coaches. "And the southeast and south have about twice as many assistant coaches as any other parts of the country."

He said sectional loyalty played an important part in the selection of Alabama's Paul Bryant as coach of the year, over Devaney, whose Nebraska team defeated Bryant's Alabama team in the Orange Bowl to become the nation's No. 1 football team for the second year in a row.

Crowder, whose Colorado team was ranked No. 3 and Chuck Fairbanks, coach of No. 2 ranked Oklahoma, joined Big Eight Commissioner Chuck Neinas, Nebraska Gov. J. J.

Tennessee St. Sets New Goals For Post-Season

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee State is No. 1 in the season's final Associated Press small college basketball poll—but the Tigers weren't around their home court to savor the victory Thursday.

Coach Ed Martin and his boys had their minds on bigger game—LSU-New Orleans in the first game of the NCAA College Division South regional tournament, a stepping stone in the national finals in Evansville, Ind. LSU-New Orleans was last year's No. 1 team, but finished out of the running this year.

"It's not that we don't appreciate the honor," Martin said, between practice sessions at Cleveland, Miss. "But we've got our minds on this tournament right now."

The Tigers have compiled their record with a tall front line—6-foot-7 Lloyd Neal, 6-foot-8 Claude Grant and 6-foot-7 Leonard Robinson.

The Tigers, 22-1, received four first-place votes Thursday in nationwide balloting of sports writers and broadcasters for the top spot in the AP poll, while Eau Claire of Wisconsin, the leader most of the season, received nine votes for No. 1. But the Tigers outdistanced Eau Claire 10-1 in second-place votes and finished with 272 points to 253.

Each team recorded two victories last week. Eau Claire finished the season with a 23-1 record.

Two other first-place votes were cast, one each for Louisiana Tech, which finished No. 3 and Florida Southern, which was unranked.

Eastern Michigan finished No. 4 and was followed by Alabama State, Stephen F. Austin, Cheyney State, Evansville, Western Washington State and Kentucky State.

Select Squads In All-America Golf Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Twenty-four teams from 12 states are to compete April 12-15 in the 14th All-America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The 72-holes of medal play at the Atascocita Country Club will determine at least five championships. Dave Williams, University of Houston coach, said Thursday he is considering elimination of the team match category this year.

Teams entered include the top three finishers in the NCAA tournament last year. Texas, Houston, and Florida. Heading the Texas team is Ben Crenshaw, the defending NCAA medalist champion.

Florida swept five of the six categories last year, losing only in team match play to Texas. Andy North took the individual medal trophy while leading Florida to team medal, four-ball, two-ball, and overall team championships. It was the first time in history that Houston failed to win in any category.

In addition to Texas, Houston, and Florida, teams in the 1972 tournament are Alabama, Arizona, Arizona State, Arkansas, Baylor, Brigham Young, Colorado, Florida State, Indiana, Louisiana State, New Mexico, New Mexico State, North Texas State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Oregon, Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, and Texas Christian.

Carlton Happy With Deal Now

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — Steve Carlton was sitting on the rubbing table in the trainer's room at the Phillies' camp here having some mercurial paint on his right forefinger, which he skinned fixing a flat, when one of the Philadelphia writers came in and handed him a copy of the story he had written.

"I thought you'd like to take a look at this," said the writer. "It has to do with Marvin Miller and what he said about you being traded over here."

Steve Carlton read the story. It said that Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, had said the players might refuse to open the regular season next month unless there was some progress in negotiations on their benefit plan.

It also said Miller had some reservations over last week's trade, the one in which Carlton, seeking more money from the Cardinals was traded to the Phillies even up for Rick Wise, also asking for more money.

"... To the extent that the trade was punitive to Steve Carlton, it represents a highly inequitable situation... What recourse a player may have in such a situation is currently in the lap of the Supreme Court. The Curt Flood case. But we're hoping that if the Supreme Court does not provide a satisfactory solution that Congress will then take a hard look at baseball..." Miller was quoted.

Carlton handed the story back to the writer without saying anything. He looked at his finger again.

"Do you think the Cardinals sending you here was a punitive action?" Another newsmen asked Carlton.

"I don't think Marvin Miller meant me specifically," said the tall slender left-hander. "I think he was just offering my case as an example."

"He said 'to the extent that the trade was punitive to Steve Carlton,'" persisted the newsmen. "That means you."

Carlton shrugged. "If action has to be taken, I guess it will be," he said. "Actually, he did me a favor trading me. Salary-wise."

"By 'he,' you mean Gussie Busch?"

"Him and Bing Devine," said Carlton. "If that's all they thought I was worth, then I'm glad they made the deal."

The 27-year-old Miami fastballer had a miserable season, 10-19, in 1970. Last year he was the Steve Carlton of the Cardinals always felt he could be from the time they first signed him eight years ago. He led the club with 36 starts and 273 innings pitched. He also led with his 20-9 record and for good measure, he got up there and banged out 17 hits himself.

For all this Carlton felt his salary should be jumped from $50,000 to $75,000.

Unreasonable? Maybe, when you look at some of the blue and white collar salaries around you. Not so unreasonable though when you look at what some other ballplayers are getting.

"We were just under $10,000 apart," says Carlton, remembering the morning he got the news of the trade. "Bing called me, we were both still in St. Louis, and said he wanted me to come into the office and talk. I thought he wanted to talk salary again. He asked me if I could be there by 10 and I said yes. He called about 20 minutes later again. He said he didn't want me to find out I was traded in the papers. Bing said they had thought about the salary problem and they had made their last offer. He said they had talked with Philadelphia which also had a salary problem with Rick Wise. Then he said 'you're now with Philadelphia.' I was a little shook up."

No more though. Steve Carlton says the Phillies have been "very nice to me."

That means he got what he was asking the Cardinals for or pretty close to it.

Illini Freshmen Post Best Mark In Recent Years

CHAMPAIGN — A 78-74 win over Parkland Junior College in the season finale enabled Coach Jim Wright's University of Illinois freshman basketball team to post the school's best yearling mark since the schedule was revised three years ago.

The Illini ended 9-3 overall and won their final eight games. They outscored their opponents by an average of 6.8 points per game and shot a torrid .454 (.443 of 977) from the field. The previous two freshman teams were 8-4.

"We're happy we were able to win the last eight," Wright said. "We had a little trouble at the start of the season (losing the first two and three of the first four), but once we got rolling we were pretty potent on offense."

Forward Rick Schmidt, a 6-6 scrambler from St. Joseph-Ogden, and 6-6 guard Otto Tucker of Paris, each scored 252 points and averaged 21.0 a game. Both are considered good prospects to challenge hard for starting spots on the varsity next year. Meanwhile, 6-4 forward Donn Deputy of Pekin and 6-2 guard Dave Roberts of Maywood (Proviso East), also averaged in double figures, and showed promise as outside shooters and playmakers. Deputy averaged 16.3 and Roberts 14.5 a game.

"We really had some shooters on the freshman team," Head Coach Harv Schmidt observed. "They ran the break offense pretty well, but they really killed a lot of people with their shooting from outside. This team has to rate as the best shooting freshman team we've had since I've been here. They all know what to do with the ball when they get it."

Schmidt also had kind words for the development of 6-7 walk-on center Tom Carmichael of Rochelle. "Tom came a long way this past season," Schmidt said. "He's the type of young man you're very happy to see come out for the team on his own. He did a lot of things for us."

Schmidt led the team in rebounding with 145, while Carmichael was next at 106. Both Schmidt and Tucker shot 47 per cent from the field.

King Eyes Challenge From Stars

DALLAS (AP) — Billie Jean King, long the dominant personality in ladies' tennis, finds herself subordinated this week to a pair of glamorous kids, Evonne Goolagong and Chris Evert—and she's half-glad and half-mad.

"It's a kick in the pants," the outspoken, 28-year-old U.S. champion said Thursday, in commenting on her No. 4 seeding in the international tournament named for the late Maureen Connolly Brinker.

"In one way, it offers an interesting challenge, and I like that. But I still have my pride. I can't live with myself when I lose."

Court personalities from throughout the country have poured into Dallas to witness the confrontation of 20-year-old Miss Goolagong, the curly-haired little girl from Australia's outback who won at Wimbledon last year, and the 17-year-old Chrissy, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the sensation of the U.S. Open at Forest Hills last year when she stormed to the finals before bowing to Mrs. King.

"I have almost knocked myself out getting ready for this week," said Billie Jean. "I am so keyed up I can't sleep. I've trained so hard I hurt all over."

"I spent a week working out every day. I've been running every day and practicing hard. I'll just have to wait and see."

An ill-conceived draw placed Billie Jean and Chris in the same quarter of the draw, meaning that they must meet Friday if seedings follow course. The winner would take on Miss Goolagong in Saturday's semi-finals, leaving the bottom half of the draw almost wide open. The favorite in that half, with elimination of Britain's Virginia Wade, is Nancy Richey Gunther, of San Angelo, Tex., who beat Miss Evert in the finals at Washington, D.C. The final is Sunday.

Thus Billie Jean is tossed in the role of "spoiler"—the lady who can thwart the first head-to-head collision of the two young girls predicted to dominate the game for the next 10 years.

This has been a spotty, disappointing year for Mrs. King, winner of three Wimbledon ladies' titles and the first woman to pass the $100,000-a-year mark in tournament earnings.

After winning at San Francisco, she pulled a leg muscle at Long Beach, Calif., and lost to Francoise Durr of France 63-6-0.

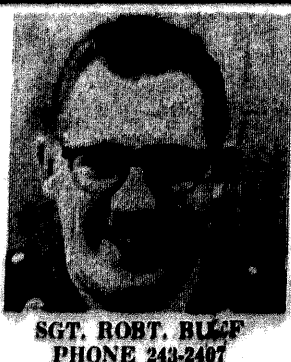

She suffered a demoralizing defeat at Miss Evert's hands at Fort Lauderdale last month, lost in the second round to Holland's Betty Stove at Oklahoma City and in the first round at Washington to Julie Heldman.

"Fans are very fickle," Billie Jean said disconsolately. "I hear whispers, 'Well, it looks like Billie Jean is over the hill' and I want to turn to them and tell them what I think."

"I'm far from being over the hill. I'm 28. Women play their best tennis in their 30s."

ACK ACK IS PRIZE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Ack Ack, thoroughbred racing's horse of the year in 1971, will be one of the three stallions whose services will be available to the owner whose horse wins the Matchmaker Stakes to be run here later in the year.

RAISE A NATIVE and Delta Judge were the other top stallions made available.

BARGAIN BAT: Joe Torre ended his holdout Thursday and signed a two-year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals, now in training camp at St. Petersburg, Florida. Torre, the National League's leading hitter and MVP last season, will receive a reported $130,000 this season and $150,000 in 1973. (UPI Telephoto)

CORPORATION PROFITS INCREASE
75 PER CENT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 100 largest corporations in the nation made $29.4 billion in profits last year—a 76 per cent increase, according to Gallagher Presidents' Report.

General Motors Corp. made the largest gain—217.9 per cent, the report said Wednesday. The gain compared with a sharp drop in the company's 1970 profits because of a long strike late in that year.

Not counting GM's results, the other 99 firms showed a 70.8 per cent rise in aggregate after-tax profits, to $27.5 billion.

The report said the 76 per cent rise in profits was made on a 10 per cent rise in aggregate sales by the 100 firms to $376.9 billion, and that the average rate of return on sales after taxes edged up to 4.3 per cent from 4.2 per cent in 1970.

General Motors was second with its 217.9 per cent recovery to $1,936,000,000.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey was in third place with an 11.5 per cent rise to $1,460,000,000.

SUPPLY SAFE
IN BEARDSTOWN

BEARDSTOWN — The Beardstown city council Tuesday heard reports indicating bank balances in city accounts total $284,278.87 as of March 1.

This amount includes $254,288.74 in city accounts and $30,000 in Schmitt Memorial hospital operating account.

Cash receipts in the office of City Clerk Henry Dufelmeyer were $33,443.14 with disbursements for the month of February, $39,658.93.

Water and fluoridation reports indicated that the city water supply has been approved by the state. Samples taken from water supplies at six stations, including schools, showed the water safe for drinking with no indicative bacterial pollution.

Councilmen approved audit report 35 for Motor Fuel Tax refund for the period July 1, 1970 through December 31, 1971, the bank balance as of that date being $21,869.07.

Several applications for building permits were given priority in the usual manner and there was discussion of work to be done in the city museum and on street improvements on 8th street between Wall and the east city limits.

Thomas Lynn of Chandlerville invited Mayor Summey and council members to the annual Jaycees prayer breakfast to be held March 25.

Mayor and Mrs. Summey and Alderman Sue Carter will be in Chicago on city business Thursday and Friday.

Councilmen were unanimous in approving a resolution authorizing sale of liquor and beer in local taverns on election days. This was made possible by a change in state law allowing such discretionary power to city officials.

Schmitt hospital reported admissions at 152 during the month and discharges 151. Refunds were $80,722.55 and disbursements, $85,986.76.

Business — Market Wrapup

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue chips continued soft Thursday, although selective buying helped keep the stock market generally firm.

Volume continued to be heavy.

It was the third straight session that stocks churned, and analysts said it appeared the market was going through a lateral readjustment rather than the usual downward correction that follows strong gains.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed down 2.78 at 942.81.

The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,300 common stocks gained .01 to 60.72, while Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was off .02 to 108.94.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed down 1.3 at 338.6. Industrials were off 1.7, rails were down 1.5 and utilities were up .1.

Of the 1,780 issues traded on the Big Board, advances led declines 747 to 707. Volume of 2.46 million shares was up slightly from Tuesday's turnover of 21.29 million shares.

A total of 153 blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total for Wednesday of 161.

On the American Stock Exchange volume rose to 7.7 million shares from 7.6 million shares Wednesday as advances led declines 491 to 472 among 1,234 issues traded. The Amex price-change index climbed .06 to 28.40.

BRANDING IRONS
BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The California Farm Bureau says the branding iron may go the way of the stage coach. Scientists, the bureau said, are studying the possibility of putting a radio transmitter inside a calf. The sound would be received by the owner who would have a unique and identifiable signal.

The hot iron is time-consuming and, as the bureau puts it, "is not the most popular form of recreation for the cattle. Researchers estimate the cost of the electronic identification system would be practicable.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those fellows who worked out the elaborate theories on the coming of the cashless society failed to understand all the factors involved and now some of their ideas aren't worth a plugged nickel.

Credit cards and checking accounts proliferate, but so also does cash.

The theories apparently failed to fully appreciate human nature, the tax collector's avariciousness, the taxpayer's elusiveness, the coin collector's acquisitiveness, the vending machine industry's appetite or the rise in crime.

You could go on but as the Morgan Guaranty Survey muses, "The United States has become, if anything, a more cash than ever society."

There are more than $6.7 billion in coins circulating, or more than double the amount in the early 1960s. And the nearly $54 billion in bills is about $23.5 billion more than in 1960.

Morgan sought the reasons and came up with these explanations, which remind us of some startling changes that have taken place in society:

—The price of silver rose, making many coins more valuable than their face value. Since 1965, an estimated $2.3 billion in coins have been removed from circulation, forcing the mint to produce millions of new nickel and copper coins.

—Hobbyists and others have removed coins for myriad other reasons. The Kennedy half dollar and the Eisenhower dollar have sentimental value to many people, for example.

—Local sales taxes have risen. Try going to work without taking some change with you. The chances are that if you leave without coins you will come home with plenty of them. That old 98-cent price, for example, becomes $1.05 with a 7 per cent tax. It means that whereas once the storekeeper needed to refund you only two pennies, now you must come up with 5 cents in coins or the storekeeper must give you 95 cents in change.

—Toll booths have appeared on highways, bridges and tunnels all over the country. In order to lessen the complications of highway travel, a vacationing family or a businessman is likely to reserve a supply of coins before embarking.

—Crime. In an increasing number of cities the mass transportation system demands exact change in order to discourage robbery of their drivers. The coins are dropped into a locked repository. The driver carries no money.

—Sales of the vending machine industry rose to more than $6 billion by 1970.

And what about those bills? Inflation has been a major contributor to the average increase of about 6 per cent a year in the volume of paper money. But, says Morgan, tax evasion is believed to be a significant factor.

"There is a strong suspicion that some people—from gamblers and racketeers to white-collar professionals and blue-collar moonlighters—receive payment in cash so that there is no record."

Adding to the demand for bills is the fact that much U.S. currency is circulating abroad. Some of these dollars are used to conduct trade. Some are used in dope traffic.

Two other theories are offered. One, that the United States grew so large in population and output that it simply needed more currency. Two, "a love for lucre," or for the secure feeling of a wad of bills.

Drivers Can Negate
Antipollution Efforts

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ecologists and legislators can put pressure on the oil and auto industries from now until the year 3,000 and they'll make little progress in cleaning up the air unless drivers also cooperate.

Oil companies can clean up their fuel. Car companies can cut down on emissions. But neither can control the driver once he gets behind the wheel.

If he neglects to take proper care of the car, if his driving habits are bad, that driver will negate the efforts of scientists and engineers. Without consistent attention, cars get out of tune and discharge more pollutants than necessary into the air. And we're talking about cars many would consider in "good running" condition.

Filters become clogged. Spark plug gaps gradually erode. Insulators become fouled. Distributor points become burned, impeding the flow of electricity to the coil. All causes of heavy emission.

Tests Show Pollution
Engineers and technicians at the automotive emissions control laboratory operated by Esso Research and Engineering Co., Linden, N.J., can attest to that. Their tests show how

After such a tuneup, the car went through the same emissions test. The amount of unburned hydrocarbons was cut to one-third.

The Esso engineers then turned their attention to driving techniques. They modified the test to simulate the driving of "Mr. Jackrabbit," the impatient chap who zooms away from stop lights and stop signs at top speed. Mr. Jackrabbit drove the same distance, made the same stops at the same imaginary red light as Mr. Average Driver. It took Jackrabbit about 14 seconds to go from zero to 60 miles an hour, while Mr. Average Driver took 20 seconds to hit that speed. The engineers also created a "Little Old Lady" driver who took 30 seconds.

The same car was used in all three tests.

It emitted 31 to 37 per cent more carbon monoxide when Jackrabbit was behind the wheel than when driven by the average driver. There was no significant pollution difference between Mr. Average Driver and the Little Old Lady.

Peer Review Weeds Out Incompetent Doctors

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer
"Primum non nocere."
That's Latin meaning,
"Above all, do no harm."
Doctors commit themselves to this principle when they go to medical school, and for most of them it is a sacred, lifelong commitment.

As in any group of human beings, however, there are those who depart from the highest principles of their profession, and these doctors continue to see patients, just as do those who maintain the highest standards.

One way the incompetents are weeded out is through license revocation or suspension by state medical boards. But critics say this method is rarely used unless a doctor commits a crime.

The method favored by organized medicine is peer review, although there are critics of this system also.

Peer review is defined by the American Medical Association as "evaluation by practicing physicians of the quality and efficiency of services ordered or performed by other practicing physicians. Peer review is the all-inclusive term for medical review efforts."

Related to peer review are "medical practice analysis" and "claims review," sometimes referred to as utilization review and medical audit.

Under the AMA concept, the analysis is the job of the medical society designed to coordinate all peer review efforts of a community, including application of standards for the best patient care and evaluation of the quality, volume and cost of care. Claims review involves settling disputes over charges for services.

Under AMA guidelines, local, county and state medical societies are responsible for setting up peer review procedures.
This usually means appointment of a group of physicians from within the society—a committee of peers—to check on others within the society.

Although the AMA has set down suggested procedures, these are not binding on any of the affiliate societies, and the procedures vary from place to place.

Generally, peer review procedures begin when a patient complains about the way he was treated or the bill he was charged, or an insurance company complains that a bill submitted by a doctor is out of line.

Doctors, too, may register complaints against their colleagues if they think they are hospitalizing patients too frequently or are prescribing too many drugs or the wrong kind of drugs or are doing other things considered to be bad medicine.

In a hospital, a physician's areas of practice may be limited if his work is found to be substandard.

In the case of a patient complaint, the peer review committee may, after investigation, tell the patient the treatment he received was the best available or may find that the physician did err and advise him that he should alter his practice.

In serious cases, a medical society may censure a physician or, in rare instances, expel him from membership.

The peer review committee may tell the insurance company that a charge was the usual fee and reasonable for a particular service, or it may tell the physician his fees were out of line, or it may suggest a compromise fee.

Increasingly, computers are being used by insurance companies to determine the going rates for procedures and to provide statistical information on the procedures of physicians whose services are covered under such plans.

They also establish the period of hospitalization required for specified surgery or medical treatment, without complications.

Thus, more consistent standards may be set. Eventually, under sponsorship of the AMA, some sort of computerized national data may be available.

This possibility was raised by David Buchanan, director of the AMA's department of insurance and practice management. Until this comes about, Buchanan said in an interview,

the insurance companies are going to have the best data available.

If a national health insurance program is adopted, as many medical and political leaders predict, efforts to develop national criteria should be spurred.

Pending in Congress are measures which would set up peer review organizations in conjunction with Medicare. Sen.
Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, has proposed establishment of a Professional Standards Review Organization, to be formed by state or local medical societies.

The AMA has proposed Peer Review Organization legislation as part of its national health care financing plan. This proposal calls for a national council of 11 physicians, including the assistant secretary for health of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who would establish administrative guidelines for peer review in matters relating to reasonableness of charges and the need and quality of services.

State PRO commissions, appointed by state medical societies, would act as tribunals of local review panels.

Membership would be restricted to physicians, a provision which draws criticism from many interested in medical care delivery, including young doctors. More and more, demands are being made for consumer and community representation in assessing the quality of medicine and health care delivery.

Dr. Fitzhugh Mullan, a pediatrician at Lincoln Hospital in New York City, is among those who maintain that consumers should have a voice in health care.

"Informed consumers are a terribly important tool in any medical enterprise," he said in an interview.

While he acknowledged that consumers are not capable of judging all of a physician's procedures in the practice of medicine, he said, consumers should be involved in other aspects of hospital operation, such as where hospitals are to be placed and who is to be hired.

Medical teams working as a unit, including doctors, nurses, clerical workers, laboratory technicians and other medical personnel, also provide for a higher quality of medicine than the doctor working alone, he said.

Mullan asserted that patients are "absolutely not" assured of a uniformly high quality of medical care as medicine is currently practiced. "The question of regulation in general of the medical profession is a non-issue," he said, because
"there has been little regulation in all aspects of medicine heretofore."

"In most stages of practice, there is little standardization or regulation or even intercourse in the medical community to allow criticism or policing of medicine," he said.

"On paper there are things, but in terms of day-to-day practice they are not carried out."

Uneducated, ill-informed patients especially can be badly mistreated and never know it under the present system, he averred.

Lincoln Hospital is in a poverty area of the Bronx. And Mullan said many physicians derive large incomes by treating as many patients as possible, so that the patients are overtreated more than under-treated—"they have all kinds of things pumped into them."

He told of treating a child in the hospital who had previously seen a solo practitioner for treatment of a cold. The child had been given three drugs—two of them potent, useless for the illness and having serious side-effects.

Mullan said all he could do was advise the mother never to take the child back to that doctor.

Dr. Richard Kessler, associate dean of the Northwestern University Medical School, Chicago, says that to assure him-

Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Ill., Mar. 10, 1972 17 self of quality care, the patient should select a doctor who belongs to a hospital staff which undertakes peer review.

"Anywhere a group of physicians has decided it is going to take a very hard look at colleagues, the public can be assured the quality of care is going to be good," he said.

FORMER ASHLAND GIRL COACHES CHOIR TO FIRST

ASHLAND — The W. K. Kellogg Junior High School choir at Battle Creek, Michigan, under direction of Judy Fulton Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. n Fulton of Ashland, recently received a first rating in the Battle Creek secondary music festival.

This is Mrs. Welch's first year in the Battle Creek public schools. Her 60-voice Komet Choir has been active in many school and city functions. They are now preparing for a city-wide exchange concert, Easter concert and folies show.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch reside at 20 Post Avenue, Battle Creek.

Marilyn Thorale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thornley of Ashland, is student teaching at the Canton Elementary School for nine weeks.

Miss Thornley is a senior at Illinois State University, Normal.

William Campbell has returned to his home here from the Modern Care Home at Jacksonville, where he spent two weeks after being discharged from Memorial hospital in Springfield.

A large gathering from the various churches in this city was in attendance at the World Day of Prayer Friday afternoon at the Church of Christ.

Women from the other churches had parts in the program. Music was furnished by eight boys from Ashland High School under the supervision of Miss Mary Ann White. A solo was sung by Mrs. Joan DeGroot with Mrs. E. L. Beadles, accompanist. Church hymns also were sung.

Thirteen Rebekah members were present at the lodge meeting last Friday evening in the library club room. A school of instruction was held by Mrs. Almada Watkins. The birthday song was sung to Mrs. Louise Quinley.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Eva Bryant and Mrs. Lorene Maddox. Tables were decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

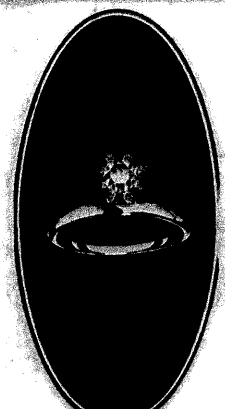

Wayne Bloomfield, who has been serving in Vietnam, has returned home here for a month's visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reside, Mrs. Rose Hinds and Mrs. Leta Hammack attended a Silver Cross recital at the Sacred Heart Academy in Springfield last Saturday night. Miss Nancy Kaplan, granddaughter of the Resides, sang several solos and a duet with Elizabeth Ogilvie, daughter of the governor of Illinois. A reception was held at the Kaplan home after the program.

Anti-Pollution Laws Urged By Governor

By MICHAEL ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie prodded Thursday a sweeping package of antipollution legislation to help win "the fateful battle against the forces which would deprive us of our only home-planet earth."

In a message to the General Assembly, Ogilvie said Illinois has "miles to go" to extricate itself "from the haze and muck of centuries of environmental catastrophe."

Among eight major points in his program are restoration of 50,000 acres "orphaned" by strip mining, $200 million in state funds to cover stalled sewage-treatment money that was expected from the federal government and passage of the controversial Scenic Rivers Bill.

Five Charged; Set Hearings Before Court

Five defendants charged with criminal damage to property, under $150, a misdemeanor, appeared before Judge John B. Wright Thursday morning and had further court hearings set to hear pleas.

All five were charged as a result of a disturbance at Lum's Restaurant, 465 South Main, March 7.

Gary Johnson, 21, of 641 South Kosciusko asked time to hire an attorney and his case was set for March 23.

Martin Hammers, 20, of 425 W. Chambers asked time to hire an attorney and his case was set for March 23.

George Hamilton, 20, of 907 Mathers had his case continued to March 23 and was expected to be released on bond later.

Ralph Hammers, 18, 425 W. Chambers pleaded innocent and asked for a trial by jury. The court set March 22 for the jury trial but told the defendant his attorney could talk with the state's attorney for a continuance if necessary.

Alan Hamilton, 22, 757 1/2 South Fayette, additionally charged with battery, asked for time to hire an attorney and his case was continued to March 23. He was expected to be released under $2,000 bond later. He also asked the court for a jury trial.

A sixth defendant, charged earlier, was apparently cleared by a police investigation and released from jail late Wednesday without being charged.

Eva Murray Of Manchester Dies; Rites Saturday

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Eva Pauline Murray, 87, of Manchester died at 11:45 a.m. Thursday at Norris hospital.

She was born Jan. 10, 1885 in Greene county, daughter of Paris Manford and Margaret Alice Kemp Brickey. She married Ernest David Murray on June 10, 1908. He died July 28, 1942.

These children survive: Mrs. Margaret Chambers of Jacksonville, Mrs. Richard D. (Virginia) Whitney of Memphis, Tenn., Robert of Greenfield, Sarah and Jim, both of Manchester. There are six grandchildren.

These brothers and sister also survive: James Curtis, Frank, Harold and Lena.

A son, Paul Richard, and a brother preceded her in death.

The deceased was a member of Manchester United Methodist church, OES, White Shrine and Roodhouse Woman's Club.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Wolfe Memorial Home here with burial in Manchester cemetery.

Friends may call at the memorial home after 4 p.m. Friday and the family will meet friends from 7 to 9 p.m.

FIREMEN CALLED

A fire was reported to firemen Thursday evening by Ola May Hall of 620 South Kosciusko. A pan of grease apparently ignited on the kitchen stove causing $50 damage.

A grass fire was also reported about 3 p.m. Thursday by Mrs. Shirley Howell of 707 Hardin Ave. Firemen said some old furniture was ignited by fire from an open trash barrel.

Ogilvie urged fast action on the Lake Michigan "Bill of Rights" stalled in the same committee that sidetracked the Scenic Rivers Bill and a ban on construction of a lake jetport. The latter proposal remains a gleam in the eye of Ogilvie's arch political foe, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

As long as I am governor there will be no such airport," Ogilvie said.

The governor asked passage of a long-pending financial measure to help halt industrial pollution without forcing corporate offenders to face tough enforcement actions.

"Compliance without tough program is certainly a burden," Ogilvie said. "While we cannot tolerate continued pollution, we can ease the financial burden of compliance."

The legislation would establish an industrial pollution control financing authority. It would issue state revenue bonds to pay for the purchase of antipollution equipment.

This machinery then would be rented to private industries.

Rounding out the message, Ogilvie asked for creation of "strike forces" to study acute Illinois pollution problems and a new set of construction guidelines under an environmental policy bill.

Ogilvie said these guides would force planners to consider possible environmental repercussions before plunging into new projects. The rules, he said, could be opposed only by "hardened bureaucrats."

Specific parts of the program appeared headed for an uphill legislative battle.

The Scenic Rivers Bill, already passed by the House, is bogged down in the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee, where Chairman John L. Knuppel, D-Petersburg, argues it could interfere with the rights of farmers and other property owners.

Although the bill is vigorously opposed by the Illinois Farmers Union, its proponents say it would not impede any farming already under way.

River banks designated "scenic" by the measure would be immune from commercial development.

Also bottled up in the Agriculture and Conservation Committee, the Lake Michigan "Bill of Rights" sponsored by Rep. Robert Mann, D-Chicago, would bar a broad range of dumping and draining into the waters off Cook and Lake counties.

Ogilvie said it is time for a "clear, absolute unequivocal legislative ban on an airport in Lake Michigan."

"Elaborate studies," he said, show that the proposed jetport would "horribly rape part of the lake" and "bring unimaginable risks to the waters we love."

The Senate, so far, has overwhelmingly blasted aside all attempts to enact a ban on the jetport.

Other, long-dormant measures espoused by Ogilvie under his new program are the endangered species bill—aimed at sheltering Illinois wildlife—and the Timber Protection Bill to "protect ancient trees that are targets of mindless, mercenary bandits."

Hospital Notes

Several Roodhouse residents are reported hospitalized: Roy Whitworth and Mrs. Harry (Helen) Roe, both at Passavant, and Mrs. Nona Fry and Lewis Hudson, both at White Hall.

Mrs. Margaret Clayton, 409 West Beecher avenue is a patient at Memorial hospital in Springfield.

I.C. TO HAVE FINDLEY MONDAY AT CONVOCAION

U.S. Representative Paul Findley, R-Pittsfield, will speak in convocation at Illinois College, Jacksonville, at 10 a.m. Monday. His subjects will be "East-West Relations" and "Federal Budget Managing." A question and answer period will follow. The public is invited to attend.

Rep. Findley is an alumnus of Illinois College, and a member of the school's board of trustees.

Members of the Illinois College Young Republicans and Young Democrats will conduct the question and answer period, and moderator will be Student Forum President C. V. Elliott. Members of the audience will be given opportunity to submit questions.

New Berlin Residents Hear Sewer Proposal

Approximately 50 New Berlin residents Thursday night heard proposals for a new sewer system for their city. Representatives from several companies described the new system and its projected costs to inform the public on the issue before a bond issue vote comes up next Tuesday.

Costs for the project were estimated at $642,000. According to the plans, $37,000 will come from the state, $7,100 will come from customer connection fees and the Farmer's Home Administration has offered the city a $210,000 grant. In addition, the FHA has also offered a $358,000 loan.

That would leave the City of New Berlin with the responsibility of paying $30,000 on its own. That will be the amount of the bond issue voted on Tuesday.

According to LaVerne Hudson, assistant to the director of the Environmental Protection Agency, the bond issue will be the first step to getting the federal and state grants.

Casler and Associates, of Jacksonville, are consulting engineers for the City of New Berlin on the project. Village president, John McCullough conducted the public meeting.

Payroll Rises; Employes Drop

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The number of Illinois state employes fell off slightly in December from the November total, but the payout rose to a new high of $80.54 million.

This was reported Thursday by State Auditor Michael J. Howett. He noted that the pay reflected a general 3 per cent increase delayed by the national wage freeze until December.

The 114,412 employes were 224 fewer than in November but the December payroll was $2.6 million higher.

There were 764 more employes in December 1971 than a year earlier. Total payroll costs in the year's time rose 8.6 per cent.

"Lila Elliott" Day Sunday At First Baptist

Sunday, March 12 at the 10:30 services the congregation and friends of First Baptist church, No. 1 Forest Hill Drive will recognize and honor a longtime faithful and dedicated teacher.

Miss Lila Elliott has taught the Primary Class at First Baptist for 43 years. During this time she has had the children and maybe even grand-children of some of her first pupils. She is a teacher whose life is wrapped up in her kids.

She has been a mother, grandmother and friend to all who passed through her class. During this time she has worked hard and faithfully to teach her children the true meaning of the Bible and the Love of God.

First Baptist invites all who have had Miss Elliott as a teacher to join in the Sunday, March 12, service honoring the Jacksonville woman.

Hilda Angle Of Roodhouse Dies Unexpectedly

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Hilda Irene Angle, 70, of Roodhouse died unexpectedly at 6:10 p.m. Wednesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Hildegard Saylor of San Diego, Calif.

She was born Aug. 25, 1901 near Pleasant Plains, daughter of William and Minnie Carlock Jones. Her husband, Keith, died Feb. 28, 1967.

These children survive: Charles of Shelton, Conn., Mrs. Hildegard Saylor of San Diego, Calif., Derrol of Ansonia, Conn., and Mrs. Judy Strommatt of Roodhouse. A sister, Mrs. Ethel Dawdy of Patterson, also survives.

There are 10 grandchildren. One son and two sisters preceded in death.

The deceased was a member of Hillview Baptist church, Roodhouse RNA and OES.

The body will be brought to the Wolfe Memorial Home here. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Three Routt H. Students Speech Contest Bound

Three Routt High school students will participate in the individual events contest at the Wood River I.H.S.A. Sectional Speech Contest Saturday.

Juniors Jennifer Niehaus and Jay Tighe, and sophomore Mary Mansfield, all of whom placed in the Camp Point District competition last Saturday, travel to East Alton-Wood River High for the meet that includes the advancing participants from the DuQuoin, Lincoln, Roxana and Camp Point districts.

With the first three places at district advancing, Tighe placed second in humorous interpretation with a cutting from Mark Twain's short story, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County." Miss Mansfield finished second in prose reading, while Miss Niehaus placed third in oratorical declamation with an excerpt from "A Republic If You Can Keep It."

Routt finished in a tie with Jacksonville High school for fourth place in the individual events, with JHS also picking up a first in drama. Camp Point Central, the host school, took first in the individual events with a 22-point tally, followed by Payson and Pittsfield with 15 each, Quincy Senior with 14 and the two local high schools with 13 points apiece.

Also participating for Routt at the district were Susan Hodgson and Bob Tobin, who both finished fifth in their respective events of verse reading and radio speaking; Margie Hunt in monologue; Ellen Zachary and Susan Niehaus in duet acting; and Kathi Pine, who was entered in dramatic interpretation.

Students who advance from the Wood River Sectional will compete in the State Finals late this month.

FIREMEN CALLED

City firemen were called to the residence of Mrs. H. L. Evans, 420 E. State St., about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday. Pastry burning in the oven was the cause of the alarm. There was no damage.

Mayor On Campaign Trail; Blasts Pine

Mayor Dan F. Lahey, also a candidate for state representative in the March 21st Democratic Primary Election, hit the campaign trail on a "full-time basis."

Mayor Lahey said Thursday morning that he sent a letter to all department heads and elected officials indicating that he started his vacation Thursday and would be on the campaign trail through March 21. The only exception would be that he planned to preside at all city council sessions.

The mayor said last week he had quite a lot of vacation time built up since he had not taken a vacation since he became mayor.

Blasts Urban Renewal

Lahey did, however, take time out of his busy campaign duties to blast the city's urban renewal program and the director, John Pine.

"I'd fire him (Mr. Pine) tomorrow, if I could. I just don't think the man (Mr. Pine) is capable of handling the job," Mayor Lahey charged. "And I'm still against urban renewal for Jacksonville." Mr. Pine indicated in a statement recently that he doubted that full cooperation would be forthcoming from the mayor's office.

"No Cooperation"

"He's right!" Lahey said, "He (Mr. Pine) won't get any cooperation from my office in the area of urban renewal."

Lahey said when he was an alderman, in 1966, he was chairman of finance, utility and urban renewal committees on the council. "I resigned as chairman of the urban renewal committee then because I didn't think it would be of benefit to Jacksonville."

Lahey vetoed urban renewal legislation in May of last year twice. At that time, Lahey contended that relocation of sewer, water and electric lines would be too costly for the three departments. He said a possible solution could be Motor Fuel Tax but in his opinion would delay street improvements, hamper much needed repair of

Police To Meet With Citizens This Saturday

The first Police-Community Seminar will be held in the City of Jacksonville on Saturday, March 11. This seminar is sponsored by the Citizens Advisory Council with help from the Illinois Commission on Human Relations and Grant No. 0085 from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

Students, teachers, and parents for this program were selected at random from Jacksonville and Routt High Schools.

The general objectives are to promote intergroup programs, related to citizen understanding of civic responsibilities to each other and the police through advice, consultation and actual participation.

The Police Department of the City of Jacksonville view this seminar as an opportunity for students, parents, teachers, and police officers to meet for discussion of police problems in schools, and for discussion of parent and teacher concern, related to control and prevention of these problems.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Harry Taylor led in recreation. A old-fashioned spelling bee was enjoyed.

Johanna's Unit Meets

Johanna's Unit of Homemakers Extension met March 6, at the home of Mrs. Russell Wilson with Mrs. W. T. Watt assisting.

Chairman, Mrs. Galen Rothering, conducted the business session. The program was presented by Mrs. Johanna Bruns, home advisor on selection and care of new fabrics. The selected subject, A Sewing Quiz, was led by Mrs. Gary Harbison.

Members discussed the crafts and foods booth at the Koster Site Benefit Auction March 25 and the upcoming spring tea.

The next regular meeting is scheduled at the home of Mrs. Gary Harbison May 1.

Complete in Contest

Forty band students from the Winchester Grade school will compete in the District Stage Band and Ensemble Contest at Litchfield Saturday, March 11. They are under the direction of Melvin Dalhaus.

There will be six chaperones accompanying the contestants. Miss Grace Ellen McEvers and Mrs. Melvin Dalhaus will again be chaperones for the students.

Attend Electricity Workshop

Eight boys from Scott county attended the 4-H electricity workshop in Carrollton last Saturday. They learned about growing plants under lights, which was just part of the information presented.

Attending were Rick Hembrough, Paul Hembrough, Loy Jones, Lyle Jones, Allen Worrell, Doug Myers, Jeff Myers and Ken Myers.

bridges and delay connection of East College with the Old State Road.

In another message to the council last May, Lahey said the urban renewal program "is a decision whether we should endanger projects all over the City of Jacksonville for a concentrated area of a few blocks." He said the public square has always "weathered the storm, and I believe it can do so now."

Scott Units Learn About New Fabrics

By Mrs. James Cox
(Winchester Correspondent)
Telephone 742-3817 or 742-5366

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Day Unit of Homemakers Extension met Tuesday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Watson Taylor with Mrs. Lilly Hanback assisting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mildred Clark, who read a poem.

Mrs. Wayne Bruns, home extension advisor, presented the program on Selection and Care of Fabrics. She demonstrated samples of various kinds of material found on the market today and showed different types of labels found attached to the articles of clothes and yardage goods. A new law regarding labeling of fabrics was discussed.

Following a sack lunch at noon, the selected subject consisting of a sewing quiz was given by Mrs. David Welch. Mrs. Clara Little gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Joe Worrell read the treasurer's report.

Reports were given by the planning committee for the April meeting. There will be both afternoon and evening meetings at the extension center. Mrs. Louise Hieronymus and Mrs. Watson Taylor were appointed to oversee preparations for the Winchester Day Unit. Each unit in the county is to arrange a display or demonstration.

Miss Hester Korty was the only member having a March birthday. Mrs. Fern Springer was welcomed into the unit as a new member.

It was announced that a lesson on candle making will be held for the 4-H members on April 3. A paper entitled, Help to Hear, was read by Mrs. George Groce. Miss Ruth Reed gave a report on Use and Misuse of Aspirin.
